HANDY HINTS TO ASSESS YOURSELF

You don't need a weatherman to tell which way the wind blows. And you don't need to be a fitness guru to tell if you're out of shape. Follow these simple tests you can do at home to determine what you need from your workout.

1 The Cardiovascular Test

Run up and down a flight of stairs at home three times. If you can hold a conversation without sounding like a panting dog in the summer, you have a good cardio fitness level.

However, if you feel so breathless that you cannot even speak, this is an indication that your heart is not getting enough oxygen into your blood...

2 Heart to heart

...to improve, start doing some cardio exercise such as the cross trainer, treadmill, exercise bike or join a circuit training class at our gym.

3 Flexibility Test

Ladies, see if you can do your bra up at the back by taking your arm behind and up between your shoulder blades. Or simply touch your toes. If you haven't seen your toes for a while, we'll take it as a no. If you can't do either of these, don't worry. We just need to introduce some flexibility into your workouts.

4 Your flexible friend

Simply bend to touch your toes a little every day. If you can't reach them, get a little bit nearer to them every day. And on the day you get there, make sure you have washed your feet.

5 The Body Fat Test

Measure your waist. If your waist is greater than your chest it could indicate that you are carrying a little extra weight around the mid-section. This could lead to heart disease or even worse, the struggle to fit into your favourite jeans.

6 Coordination & Balance Test

Stand on one leg for 15 seconds without falling over. Swap legs and do the same. You should be able to stand without falling over or putting your other foot down. If you cannot complete this task then perhaps you need to work on your balance and coordination...

7 Improve your balance

...there are so many things you can do to improve your balance. And the best part is, they are all fun activities: Swimming, tennis, badminton, rollerblading, yoga and dance will all improve your coordination and balance.

8 Strength and Endurance Test

Go into your fridge and grab yourself a 4 pack of lager or a litre bottle of water. See if you can perform about 15 bicep curls without having to stop and start drinking it. If you can, your muscles are quite strong. If after 8 you're opening up a can of lager, then maybe you need to introduce some simple weight training exercises...

9 Strong beer

To improve your strength, simply do 15 repetitions of the above exercise with your 4 pack of beer or a water bottle each day until you can do it comfortably, then begin moving up to 20 repetitions. Soon enough you'll have biceps to crush walnuts.

10 Tackling body fat

It's simple really, you need to be using up the calories you intake by being active. It's a question of balance. If you're one to indulge on takeaways now and again and only walk to your car every day, you're going to find either your clothes are shrinking or you're gaining weight. Just be honest with your lifestyle and the activity you are doing.

MUM'S FURY OVER FEVER SCARE

School 'ignored' outbreak of former killer disease

by HELEN CRANE
hcrane@london.newsquest.co.uk

A mum whose young daughter became seriously ill with scarlet fever – formerly a killer disease – is demanding parents should be told immediately there is an outbreak.

It was only after four-year-old Paige Snowling contracted the disease and was taken to hospital for treatment that her mother Rachel discovered there had been at least one other case among pupils at Shawley Community Primary School in Epsom Downs.

Since then she has heard of other cases.

"There could well be a lot more," Mrs Snowling said from her home in Homefield Gardens, Tadworth. "After all I don't know everyone at the school, so I couldn't say how many other children have caught it."

Paige ran a high fever with the disease and was very distressed until the worst of the illness was over.

Mrs Snowling claimed parents were not informed as soon as the first case was reported.

She added: "She was just covered in this horrible rash everywhere. When Paige got it I telephoned the school to tell them that she had scarlet fever and I told them to warn other parents but they never bothered."

But this week, following queries to the school about the outbreak, parents were sent letters giving them advice and information about the disease.

In the past, scarlet fever was a killer and children who caught it were put in isolation hospitals for weeks at a time and their bedding and toys were burned for fear of spreading infection.

Although it is still a notifiable disease, with modern-day treatment and antibiotics it is now considered a less serious condition.

On Tuesday, Surrey County Council issued a statement about the outbreak.

It said: "Two cases of scarlet fever have been confirmed and there are three more suspected cases.

"The school acted quickly to seek advice from the Health Protection Agency. We are passing on the information provided so parents can be vigilant and seek appropriate medical treatment for their child if he or she appears to show signs of illness.

"Scarlet fever commonly affects children and is not a serious disease.

"It is treated with antibiotics and rest at home. It is important parents keep their children off school for up to five days if they have the disease."

Alerting others: Mum Rachel Snowling, with Paige, four and Jack, three, is angry the school did nothing to warn parents about scarlet fever at their school

'Works are a danger'

by AARON MOON

amoon@london.newsquest.co.uk

Angry parents and a councillor have called for immediate changes to be made to building works in a Ewell road which they claim is "an accident waiting to happen".

Renovation work has been taking place on the former Wine Rack shop in Church Street since September last year. But as work has progressively moved around the building, the scaffolding has also had to move – meaning that it now blocks off part of the road.

Nicola Rigby, of Pams Way, a mother and childminder, said she was angry that each time she tried to cross the road with young children, she was forced to step out and was unable to see what was coming towards her. She said: "It is a blind corner so you have to walk into the road. It's an absolute nightmare. I am worried that someone will be hit.

"It's an accident waiting to happen, there are so many children going down there. There is no provision for children or people with prams but nobody seems bothered.

"The other side of the road is too narrow for buggies and there is a skip there for the building work which makes it even narrower."

Councillor Pamela Bradley visited the site after receiving a large number of complaints from residents and agreed that it was dangerous for the number of people who walked past the site.

She said: "I have had so many complaints, it has been an annoying thorn in my side. It has been going on for too long, partly because there have been so many problems with the building."

A spokesman for Surrey County Council said: "We have put up signs warning people that the section of the footpath is closed and we have kept the schools in the area fully updated. The situation has been caused because a building has structural damage and, because we try hard to listen to residents' concerns, we are meeting with the contractor used by the owner to find out the full extent of the work needed and how long it will take. If people are willing to walk further while this work is being done, alternative routes are available."

Ramps makes school visit

Surrey CCC and Strictly Come Dancing star Mark Ramprakash visited a group of future cricketers last week when he attended a training session at Downsend School in Ashtead.

He visited to help celebrate local coach Matt Homes completing his England and Wales Cricket Board (ECB) level three coaching award.

Ramps ran a master class for the young cricketers and took part in a question and answer session before signing autographs.

Youth contract to behave well

by AARON MOON

amoon@london.newsquest.co.uk

A number of youths from Langley Vale have been given acceptable behaviour contracts in a crackdown by police who hope to curb a rise in the antisocial behaviour which has hit the village.

Epsom and Ewell youth affairs officer PC Kevin Gargini and two PCSOs carried out high visibility patrols on January 6 and issued the contracts to young people between the ages of 16 and 17.

A local resident, who did not want to be named, said that behaviour in the village had progressively worsened over the past few months and that residents had been forced to hold a number of meetings about it.

She said: "Most nights there is a large group of them in one of the roads. If you're walking past them they can be really intimidating at times. There has been a large amount of vandalism and trouble since last year. Whether these contracts will actually do anything it remains to be seen. The problem is that because we are so far away from Epsom, sometimes it feels like the police hardly ever come up here."

The terms of the contract state that the youths must not graffiti or damage any property in and around the village as well as Epsom, not to be dunk in any public place and not to "engage in any behaviour or use words likely to cause racial harassment, alarm or distress" to residents living locally.

PC Gargini said the contracts had been issued in response to concerns from the residents.

He said: "I hope that by taking strong action against antisocial behaviour in the area it will encourage residents to continue to work with us.

"We want to show that we are listening and are ready to act on their concerns and we want to show youths that antisocial behaviour will not be tolerated. Youths that fail to comply with these agreements could find themselves being put forward for an Asbo which, if breached, can result in a term of imprisonment."

Skate park turned down

Councillors have rejected a site proposed for a new skate park.

Councillors at a recent Mole Valley policy committee decided the suggested site in Ashtead recreation ground was too near homes in Oakhill Road and that residents were concerned about noise and antisocial behaviour.

Another possible position close to the entrance of the recreation ground was also rejected on the grounds that it was also too near homes.

Now councillors and members of the Ashtead Skateboard Partnership are to look for another site.

David Howell, leader of Ashtead independent councillors, said: "The decision to reconsider the location of the proposed skate park is a victory for common sense. The proposals had been taken to committee without sufficient evidence-based research to show that concerns over noise, safety and antisocial behaviour had been adequately addressed."

Man hurt in crash

A 20-year-old man was taken to St Helier Hospital with serious injuries after his grey Volkswagen Golf car hit a brick pillar in Fir Tree Road, Burgh Heath.

The accident happened just after 11pm on Thursday. A female passenger was also taken to St Helier where she was treated for minor injuries. The man's condition was described as stable. Anyone who saw the collision, or the vehicle just before the accident, should contact the Surrey Police collision investigation unit on 01483 639922.

Derby safe even with no sponsor

amoon@london.newsquest.co.uk

Racing bosses have admitted that they are still struggling to find a sponsor for this year's Epsom Derby – but promise there is no threat to the prestigious racing festival.

The Derby is considered to be the most coveted flat thoroughbred horse race in the world and has taken place every year uninterrupted since 1780. It now attracts well over 100,000 people each year and is the largest gathering in Surrey.

But Vodafone's withdrawal last summer after a 13 year stint has left a huge sponsorship vacuum which has so far proved difficult to fill.

Ironically, it is the £27.6million development of the new grandstand on Epsom Downs which is believed to be the main factor holding back companies from sponsoring the event.

Epsom's PR manager Johnno Spence said that Vodafone had paid £1.2million each year to sponsor the days but that there would be no reduction in the price this year even though part of the stand is a building site.

He said: "Currently we have a plan A and a plan B. There are still a couple of irons in the fire. Plan A is to get one company sponsoring the whole event and plan B is to separate the race days up to different partners.

"This year is not ideal because we're building a whole new stand which won't be ready until 2009. There will be temporary facilities but you'd want to have the best facilities if you're launching a global brand, so next year will be big.

"The most important thing is that the Derby is an extremely powerful commercial tool and we won't be underselling it, the price will not be dropped. We will be making an announcement in the next few weeks and will hopefully have some good news."

The new development programme involves a new 11,000 capacity grandstand which is expected to be opened early next year and a 120 bedroom hotel, which is due to open this summer.

Included in the new grandstand will be a large hall with catering outlets, a large restaurant and 14 private boxes.

Although the shell of the new grandstand will be up for this year's Derby, only the terraces, which have a capacity of more than 4,000, will be open. The Derby village will be open as usual.

Thrills: More than 100,000 people are expected to attend the Epsom Derby Deadlinepix EP13346

Booze sold to minors

Licensed shops in Epsom and Ewell have again been targeted by undercover teams trying to find outlets which sell booze to under age children.

The covert operations have led to calls to the police after staff in nine licensed premises in the boroughs of Epsom & Ewell, Spelthorne and Elmbridge sold alcohol to children aged from 14 to 15.

Over a three month period test purchases were carried out in 68 premises over the three boroughs.

Sergeant Alistair MacPherson, from the partnership Surrey Together, said: "There is a clear link between alcohol and antisocial behaviour which the team is tackling.

"The project is making a real impact on underage sales across Surrey with the number of test purchases and shop visits increasing dramatically since the launch of the project in September 2005.

"The message to retailers is simple. They should be asking young customers for ID in the form of a driving licence or passport – no ID then no sale.

"Anyone who is aware of a shop selling alcohol illegally to children should contact the Trading Standards team immediately."

New estate would mean 'road hell'

Ottways Lane in Ashtead would become a road from hell unless plans for a new housing estate are modified, according to a new campaign group.

The narrow road, already heavily congested during rush hours, will become even more dangerous unless preliminary plans are changed, the Save Ottways Lane Campaign said.

The group is gathering its forces to object to a planning application to build 150 homes on the site of the former Parsons Mead school.

The site was bought for £16million by Oracle Homes, which has shown an outline of its plans at two public workshops, but has not yet submitted a formal planning application to Mole Valley District Council.

The plans revealed that the entrance to the new estate would be in Ottways Lane, but the group said that traffic should enter and leave the estate via the A24 which would be better able to cope with the added traffic flow.

A spokesman for the group said: "We accept there will be some development at Parsons Mead but Ottways Lane is narrow and very, very busy – pretty awful at times – and the new houses will add to the problem. Traffic should be directed by the A24. Parsons Mead is going to be a large development and it is beside a big road so why not connect them together?"

The group has already sent out circulars and letters to residents in roads close to Ottways Lane before the plans for Parsons Mead are sent to the council. It has also set up a website ottwayslane.com

No one from Oracle was available for comment this week.

Hell? A campaign group claims Ottways Lane will be even more congested if building plans go ahead

Town hall venue 'no impact' on outcome of stables plans

An exhibition of controversial plans to develop the historic Durdans racing stables is being held at Epsom town hall.

Epsom and Ewell Borough Council's planning committee will have to decide on the outcome of the planning application, but the council said it was only allowing the town hall to be used for tomorrow's exhibition because developers could not find another suitable venue.

Hosting the exhibition at a central Epsom location will give residents a chance to see the plans and discuss them.

A spokesman said: "The [town hall] is being used as a venue only and this decision has no impact on the outcome or implies the council approves of the scheme."

The stables, also known as Lavendau Stables, housed three Derby winners when they were owned by Lord Rosebery.

The property which has fallen into disrepair, and contains the only listed building in Epsom on the English Heritage endangered list, is now owned by Lord Halifax.

His estate plans to build a mixed development including converting some of the stables into offices – plans which have generated furious opposition including from Epsom's MP Chris Grayling who met with Lord Halifax to protest .

Recently Mr Grayling said: "I am determined to fight these plans. This is one of Epsom's most historic set of buildings and there is no justification to convert them to another use."

But a spokesman for Lord Halifax said that the stables were not suitable for modern day equestrian use and the best way to preserve them was to find another use.

Campaigners for the stables want them to be preserved and turned into an equestrian heritage centre.

The exhibition takes place tomorrow (Friday) between 4pm and 7pm.

742-acre farm could fetch £7m

Langley Vale Farm is for sale and the 742-acre plot on the borders of Epsom Racecourse is expected to fetch more than £7million.

Although there are long odds against the farmland becoming a housing estate in the near future, the price could be a lot higher if it is sold to developers who are prepared to gamble on greenbelt land eventually being released for building.

Councillor Michael Arthur, chairman of Epsom and Ewell Borough Council's planning policy sub-committee, said:

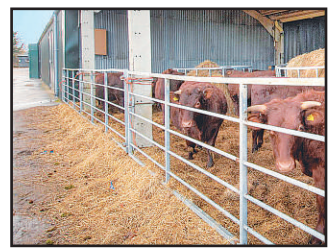
by HELEN CRANE

hcrane@london.newsquest.co.uk

"We have a very robust policy to protect our green belt – it is in our core strategy to retain the status of our green belt land.

"But we may be overtaken by Government policy but that would attract fierce opposition and it would be a matter for national debate if the green belt was threatened."

While some developers may put a bid in for the land in the hope that eventually they will get permission to build, it is expected the estate will be sold to someone interested in a long-term agricultural investment.



For sale: Langley Vale Farm

The farm includes 575 acres of farmland which is contract farmed and 150 acres of woodland.

The site also includes grain storage and a range of farm outbuildings and the Langley Bottom farmhouse, a four-bedroom house subject to agricultural restrictions and which is let out and will not be available for vacant possession in the near future.

As well as the main house and two cottages, a range of farm buildings which have been converted into offices and workshops and bring in an annual rent of about £60,000 are included in the sale.

Sarah Macdonald-Smith, who is handling the sale for prestige estate and land management agents Strutt Parker, says that the estate will fetch at least £7million.

She said: "There has been a lot of interest in the farm. I think it will be sold to someone interested in a long-term investment in agricultural land.

"Although it is unlikely that anyone could get planning permission to build in the immediate future, it is something that has to be considered in the long term."

Is this your jewellery?

A local councillor is appealing for help in finding the owner of a bag full of jewellery she found last month.

Councillor Pamela Bradley found the bag just before Christmas close to the town hall in Epsom.

Coun Bradley said: "Inside was about £40 worth of jewellery, including earrings, brooches and rings. Someone has obviously bought it for a friend but the bag is quite unusual,.If somebody thinks it is theirs and can describe the bag to me and the items inside, they can have it."

Anyone with information should contact Coun Bradley at pbradley@epsom-ewell.gov.uk or on 020 8394 2491.

Library sets for the sea

A wooden boat was launched at Ewell children's library on Monday during a story time which featured ships, boats and tales of the sea.

The boat, with seating for small readers and its own book shelves, has been moored in the library to provide an added attraction for youngsters.

The latest addition to the library at Bourne Hall was funded by Surrey County Council's Epsom and Ewell local committee and on Monday there were some rather older listeners to the maritime story time.

County councillors Jean Smith, Nigel Petrie and Colin Taylor joined children, parents and library staff for the launch.

Join the choir

A choir group is looking to recruit singers to join its ranks in preparation for concerts throughout the year.

The Epsom Chamber Choir is currently rehearsing for a choral evensong at Ely Cathedral in February and a spring concert in March. But the group need a couple of bass singers.

Musical director Michael Stevenson said: "Basses interested in joining us are welcome to come to one of our rehearsals. We're delighted to receive enquires from sopranos, altos or tenors too..

Rehearsals for the group take place on Thursday evenings in Langley Vale, Epsom Downs. Contact Beth Hill on 01372 729 422.

Pianist performs

A once-regular performer at the Epsom Playhouse is making a return to the theatre after a 16-year absence.

Simon Conning, a pianist who last played in Epsom in 1992, became a performer and conductor in London's West End. A concert takes place on Saturday, March 1, at 7.45pm and tickets are now on sale and available from the box office on 01372 742555.

Did train death man fall off Ashtead platform?

A man who died after falling underneath a train at Ashtead station two weeks ago may have slipped because he was drunk, a friend has revealed.

Philip Whitehead, 54, who previously lived in Darcy Road, Ashtead, but was thought to have been living near Epsom, was killed when he was hit by a Waterloo to Guildford train on Friday, January 11.

Epsom resident Rachel Tullet, a passenger on the train, explained her disbelief at finding him underneath the train after they had pulled into the station.

She said: "The driver knew we had hit something but didn't know what. As we went

by AARON MOON
amoon@london.newsquest.co.uk

over, all the lights turned off and the power was cut. We were told to pull the doors open and get out of the train.

"The driver walked up the platform briefly looking under all the carriages. I then looked under my carriage and found a man laying there.

"Shortly after, the police and paramedics arrived and told us all to leave the platform. The man was still alive when I saw him, as I heard him cry for help as I was leaving."

Family members and friends had assumed that, although Mr Whitehead's death was tragic, he had deliberately thrown himself underneath the train and committed suicide.

Speaking from his home last week, his stepson admitted the family had been stunned when they learned of his sudden death.

A friend of Mr Whitehead, who did not want to be named, said: "He was one of those chaps where things went bad for him.

"He lost his brother last year, and then his job. He had marriage problems and was separated. He had just started to have counselling, although I do not think anyone really knew that. I was just shocked. There are some people that you think it was on the cards, but with him you just did not expect it."

Another source claimed Mr Whitehead suffered from alcoholism and had accidentally fallen in front of the train after spending the day drinking in an Ashtead pub.

"He was that lashed that he stumbled in front of a train in the station," he said.

Police have refused to comment on his death, but confirmed that they are not treating the incident as suspicious.

A spokeswoman for British Transport Police said: "The matter is now before the coroner for an inquest.

"The coroner will make a final decision on the cause of death."

Cremation charges may be set to rise

It is going to cost more to be old, to be sick or to die in the borough of Epsom and Ewell.

The fee to bury cremated remains in a garden of remembrance in Epsom cemetery could increase by more than 50 per cent from last year's charge of £221 for an Epsom resident, and £442 for a non-resident.

Burial in the lawn section of the cemetery could rise by 46 per cent, and the cost of burials in other locations could rise by 15 per cent.

Any elderly or disabled person connected up to the community alarm system and who loses the pendant to summon help could face a charge of £40, up from £20.50 – although damaged or faulty pendants will be replaced free.

A whole variety of fees will be increased if councillors at this week's meeting of Epsom's social committee agree to them.

The agenda for the committee meeting says that the committee needs to generate more income to cope with reductions in Government grants and to reduce the risk of large increases in council tax .

The Government gives no financial support for the services which could rise in price, so any costs not met by the fees have to be met by council tax payers.

If the proposals go ahead, the cost of meals at social centres and lunch clubs will go up by 7.6 per cent, from £3.25 to £3.50, and sandwiches will increase from £1.30 to £1.50, a jump of 15 per cent.

For pensioners who want to splash out, a "premium meal" will be available at £6.50 for a trial period, which will offer salmon or more expensive cuts of meat.

There is mixed news on the proposed charges for hiring social centres. Evening rates will rise by 10 per cent, but there will be a 44 per cent cut in the cost of Saturday day time rates to encourage more bookings.

Dial-a-ride fares are to increase from £3 to £3.30 for a single fare in line with the council policy to move the cost of the transport service closer to taxi fares.

Other committees are also looking at increasing fees for council services from car parking to the cost of obtaining planning permission.

Influential police call

Pupils at a Ewell school were treated to an arresting visit from Surrey Police's Chief Constable, Bob Quick.

Mr Quick was at Glyn School, in The Kingsway, to support student excellence at its annual prize giving ceremony.

The school held its annual speech night last month to recognise students who had made either great academic or personal achievements.

Mr Quick was invited by local neighbourhood specialist officer PC Steve Mould to be the guest speaker.

PC Mould, of the Epsom and Ewell East Safer Neighbourhood Team, was elected to the school's board of governors last year, in recognition of his work with young people.

The top cop spoke to more than 350 people, including staff, students and their families.

PC Mould said: "The school was delighted to have someone of the Chief Constable's stature attend and inspire the young men to great things. He may well have been addressing a future Chief Constable."

Top cop: Bob Quick spoke to more than 350 people, including staff, pupils and families

Stay vigilant for avian flu, bird keepers told

Surrey County Council has been reminded to maintain its contingency plans following a discovery of bird flu in Dorset.

Included are plans which will prevent movement of birds, identify all bird keepers in the area and help to ensure all birds are housed correctly.

Peter Denard, Surrey Trading Standards manager, said: "All bird keepers must remain vigilant for this disease; any suspicions must be immediately reported to animal health."

Peter Martin, Surrey County Council's executive member for the environment, said: "We don't want anyone to panic. What we need are up-to-date records so as to provide the best possible service in the event of avian influenza being discovered."

The animal health team can be contacted on 01737 242242.

Police: Still no arrests over Birchwood murder

Police have still made no arrests in the murder investigation of Ashtead resident Sharon Birchwood.

Mrs Birchwood's body was found by her ex-husband in her home in Harriotts Lane on Friday, December 7.

Her body had been bound and gagged and a post-mortem showed that she had died from asphyxia about 24 hours before she was discovered.

Detectives mounted a huge operation which was aided by the Ashtead Residents' Association, who helped deliver more than 6,000 leaflets in the surrounding area, which appealed for information.

Earlier this month, police said they had obtained a detailed picture of Mrs Birchwood's life and that these details would reveal her killer.

A spokeswoman for Surrey Police said that, although house-to-house enquires were still ongoing, they were expected to come to an end this weekend.

❑ Anyone with information should contact Surrey Police on 0845 125 2222.

Selfish fail to heed no drink driving message

Drivers are still putting themselves and other road users in danger by getting behind the wheel when they are over the legal drinking limit.

Police say that the anti-drink drive message was still being ignored by some motorists.

During the Drink Drive Wrecks Lives campaign in December, Surrey police carried out 2,618 breath tests, of which 111 were positive.

The previous December, they carried out 1,586 tests, of which 121 were positive.

Acting Superintendent Moira Munro, from the roads policing unit, said the police watched certain roads at specific times to catch offenders.

"The success of this targeted policing is reflected in our provisional campaign figures, which, although they show a decrease in the number of positive tests, also indicate that people are still deciding to drink and drive and put their own lives – as well as the lives of others – at risk."

Christine Stevens, executive member for safer and stronger communities at Surrey County Council, said: "These statistics show that people are still being selfish, failing to recognise the serious risks of drinking and driving.

"The cost of a taxi is nothing compared to the human cost of those who are killed or injured as a result of drink-driving.

"We want people to remember this when they're thinking of getting into a car, whether driving or as a passenger of someone who has been drinking."

Yo, ho, ho and a bottle of rum: Pupils from The Blackbeards pirate team get fierce

Shiver me timbers

Ferocious, fearsome and piratical invaders descended on Downsend School in Leatherhead armed with cutlasses and a comprehensive knowledge of children's books.

Pupils in year five formed 10 teams of pirates to take part in a book quiz challenge.

The winning team was The Black Pearls, while The Jolly Rogers finished in second place.

Caroline Brady, the school's head of English, said: "This was a very closely-contested quiz with the top eight teams separated by a mere five points."

Special prizes were awarded to the two best dressed teams – The Cannon Guts and The Blackbeards.

Poets and authors visited the school for book week and some of the older children visited London's Globe Theatre.

Disabled boy wins claim

A nine-year-old boy who faces a lifetime of disability because of oxygen starvation during his birth at Epsom Hospital has won a compensation deal worth more than £2million.

The youngster, now living in the Bristol area with his parents, was delivered in a very poor condition at the hospital in January 1999 and will need constant care for the rest of his life.

Lawyers for the boy – a cerebral palsy sufferer – argued medics had negligently delayed his Caesarean delivery and that had he been born earlier he would have escaped permanent injury.

Through his mother, the nine-year-old sued the Epsom and St Helier University Hospitals NHS Trust which today agreed to a settlement of his case, on the basis of 57.5 per cent liability.

by HELEN CRANE

hcrane@london.newsquest.co.uk

The deal means the boy, who cannot be identified, will receive a £1.02million lump sum straight away, along with index-linked annual payments of £65,000-a-year, to cover the enormous costs of his care.

Philip Havers QC, for the NHS trust, told Mr Justice Treacy his clients were "very pleased" an agreement had been reached and said: "We hope this will go a considerable way towards providing some recompense for the devoted care and attention given to this boy by his family. We, on this side, wish the boy and his family all the best for the future."

Approving the settlement as "just and fair", the judge said: "I wish to express the court's admiration for the efforts of the parents in caring for their little boy."

Girl hurt after car accident

A 12-year-old girl was taken to Epsom General Hospital with leg injuries after an accident involving a car as she walked along Stane Way, Ewell, on Tuesday at about 4pm.

Earlier in the day a road sweeper working along the A217 at Banstead was taken to hospital after a road accident at about 11.45am.

And on Thursday, January 17, at about 1.15pm, a woman was taken to Epsom General Hospital with chest pains after a car in which she was travelling was involved in a collision with another car in Barnett Wood Lane, Leatherhead.

Bridge crash

A railway bridge by Ewell West station was closed on Tuesday night after a car lost control and ploughed into its side.

The blue Ford Mondeo ended up blocking Chessington Road in west Ewell following the accident just after 7pm, forcing police officers to close the road in both directions.

The driver, an Epsom resident, escaped from the vehicle unhurt, although Network Rail engineers were called out after it was found that the bridge had been damaged in the accident. The road was reopened by officers several hours later.

Patient handcuffed in ward

Elderly and seriously ill patients were within feet of a sick prisoner lying in a hospital bed, handcuffed and guarded by two policemen.

The patients, some of them critically ill, were distressed at being so near to the man and were also concerned he had no privacy as he lay in the clinical assessment unit at St Helier Hospital on Monday.

"It is not right. They should have found a separate room for him. It was very embarrassing for him." said a visitor to the hospital who did not want to be named.

by HELEN CRANE
hcrane@london.newsquest.co.uk

"He was open to everyone staring at him and every time he moved his handcuffs rattled and he had two guards round him.

"An elderly lady who was very near him was horrified. She was very ill and she didn't want to have to look at a man in handcuffs and his guards. I really do feel they should find somewhere else for prisoners instead of this ward where the beds are very close together.

"Patients were very unhappy that he was so near and he was in a very uncomfortable position as well. This shouldn't be allowed, both for the sake of the prisoner and the other patients."

Geoff Martin, spokesman for Health Emergency, the NHS campaigning group, said: "This is a shocking reflection on the lack of capacity at the hospital. The CAU is designed for a short term stay and if patients are backed up there it just proves the hospital is dreadfully short of beds. They are already in a state of chaos and there is worse to come."

A spokesman for Epsom and St Helier University Hospitals NHS Trust said: "All NHS hospitals in the UK have a statutory responsibility to treat people who are in prison within their local catchment area.

"In line with Trust policy, these patients are treated within individual single-bed rooms.

"On rare occasions, however, these patients need to be treated on wards, either for clinical reasons or when single-bedrooms are not available."

Rock on: Year five pupils at Cuddington Primary School take their dance class Deadlinepix SU18813

Pupils' world-wide party

A dance class showing them different styles of international dance was part of the school's humanities week, where pupils were taught about many different countries. Art classes, music and assemblies also had an international flavour.

Doctor in child porn claims

A St Helier doctor is facing a medical watchdog over claims he looked at child pornography on his laptop computer.

The fitness to practice panel heard yesterday how Dr Andrew Edwards, an orthopaedic registrar, typed "pre-teens" into an internet search engine and added a child porn portal to his computer favourites.

He is also claimed to have subscribed to a website called "Lolitas Porn" and to have visited several other child porn websites on his Toshiba laptop between 1999 and 2003.

A spokesman for Epsom and St Helier Hospital said Dr Edwards did not start work there until October 2005. "Dr Andrew Edwards worked at the trust from October 2005 to March 2007 as a specialist registrar in trauma and orthopaedics. In March 2007 he was suspended pending a fitness to practice hearing at the General Medical Council (GMC) into allegations relating to a period prior to his employment with the trust," he added.

The Trust said the doctor had not worked at the hospital since March 2007 and was no longer employed there. Dr Edwards was also subject of a criminal investigation into the viewing of the child porn but the case against him was dropped.

The GMC panel will decide whether Dr Edwards is fit to practice as a doctor, based on whether his conduct was inappropriate, unprofessional or likely to bring the medical profession into disrepute.

The hearing continues.

Tope accused of 'Brittas Empire tactics' in Cheam

Swimmers at Cheam Leisure Centre have been told to get out the pool by the "Gordon Brittas of leisure", Councillor Graham Tope.

At a council meeting on Monday Coun Tope failed to give a cast iron guarantee that the leisure centre, known as Cheam Baths, would not be closed.

"We have known for over 20 years that Cheam is an old leisure centre, we have known that for years. We need to have a sensible agreement about what's going to be happening," he said.

Coun Tope explained that although half a million pounds had been earmarked to be spent on the centre in the next financial year, the cost of maintaining the pre-war building and its facilities may not be sustainable.

He suggested that gaps in provision could be covered by deals with other boroughs such as Merton. He and several members of his party added that the council also had to consider non-sporting activities, such as libraries, when considering its leisure strategy.

by HEATHER DARLINGTON

hdarlington@london.newsquest.co.uk

The news will come as a blow to users of Sutton's leisure services who found out just three months ago that entry prices for the facilities were set to rocket this year.

Among other price hikes, the cost of a swimming season ticket will go from £145 per year to £397, a single adult swim will go up by six per cent, while the cost of using a badminton court for an hour will increase by more than half. Charges for children have also been increased at some centres.

The leisure centre, in Malden Road, has a swimming pool, a gym and sports courts.

Opposition councillor John Kennedy criticised the proposal. "Councillor Tope has gone from being the Cardinal Wolsey of the Liberal Democrats to the Gordon Brittas of leisure," he said.

A final decision about the future of the centre is likely to be made in May.

Pet shop trades under scrutiny

A Sutton pet shop may have to inform the authorities every time its buys or sell an animal.

A licence for Petsville in High Street is due to be renewed today during a meeting of the council's licensing committee.

But councillors are expected to renew it only with the added condition that the shop's owner installs an electronic system to cross-reference the purchase and sale of every animal.

The owner will then be required to produce these records for inspection by the council and London's veterinary service.

In recommending this measure, the council has taken into account the number of complaints about animal welfare at the shop.

But it has also conducted a full review of the premises and found the pet shop to comply with standards. A recent RSPCA inspection also found no evidence of malpractice.

Steve Cooper, director of Cry in the Dark, accepts the cheque for £450 from Devonshire Primary School pupils

A far Cry for help

Devonshire Primary School presented local charity Cry in the Dark with a £450 cheque to help them carry out work which was far from local.

The charity cares for disadvantaged children in the Bacau region of Romania and has a residential home for young people with special needs and a hospice for children with life-threatening illnesses.

The money was collected by the school during its Christmas productions.

Aiming to hit right note

Violinists are laying down their bows and conductors casting aside their batons to orchestrate a protest about the lack of music facilities in Sutton borough.

Sutton Youth Music Supporters Association has presented the council with an 817-signature petition calling for better acoustics and bigger auditoriums.

Disharmony had spread among the principal players when, forced to perform outside the borough, they were plunged into darkness during a recent concert in Purley.

by KEVIN BARNES
kbarnes@london.newsquest.co.uk

They now want a new performing space included in the planning brief for Wallington Hall which is expected to be redeveloped over the next 10 years.

The appeal has struck a chord with Councillor Chris Dunlop, whose two children joined Sutton Youth Music Service orchestras.

He said: "The music service, as I have seen first hand, is inclusive and draws young people from all social backgrounds, where they mix and become friends. This is a great social integrator, which I'm sure we can all applaud."

Council officers agreed to consider the specific building requirements but said the revamped hall must meet the needs of other community groups. Its 160 users include a short mat bowls club, an antiques fair and a floral art group.

Councillor Graham Tope, discussing the petition at an executive meeting last week, said: "We are all very supportive and cognisant of the need to provide the facility which the borough lacks. But there are considerable financial constraints on this council.

"There is no quick and easy solution, I'm afraid, which probably means most of the youths will have moved on by the time we find one."

Executive councillors pointed out that the borough would never rival the Albert Hall or Dorking Halls, where our young musicians regularly play.

Business fears after parking space cuts

by LISA WILLIAMS

lisaw@london.newsquest.co.uk

A hub of industry in Belmont will vanish by the end of the year, according to local businessman Adrian Farrant.

Last week we reported that parking spaces were becoming increasingly rare in the area around Belmont rail station.

But Mr Farrant, who owns Merlin Motors in the Crescent, said the proposal to take away three parking spaces is the least of Belmont's worries.

He said the 10 businesses in the road had been given their marching orders to make way for a housing development, bringing with it even more cars.

"We've been told we have to go and that blocks of flats and detached houses are likely to be built. Soon there will be no option but to use the car club as there will be no parking left," he said.

He added that, with the businesses going, the area would lose some of its skills and the visitors that these attract.

"We are all small, specialist businesses such as car repairs and ironworks. We don't need to advertise as people know where we are," he said.

Ian Fasham of managing agent Bridger Bell confirmed that development was likely. "There has been no planning application yet, but if there is one it will be published and available for people to see. From our point of view the site is most likely to be used for a residential development," he said.

He denied that anyone had been forced to leave, saying they either had short-term contracts or clauses in their lease to allow for them to leave by the end of the year.

"The buildings are old and decrepit. The neighbours will be glad to see them go as the industrial nature of the site brings with it banging noises, smells and people coming and going," he said.

Trust hoping for council health centre go-ahead

by HEATHER DARLINGTON
hdarlington@london.newsquest.co.uk

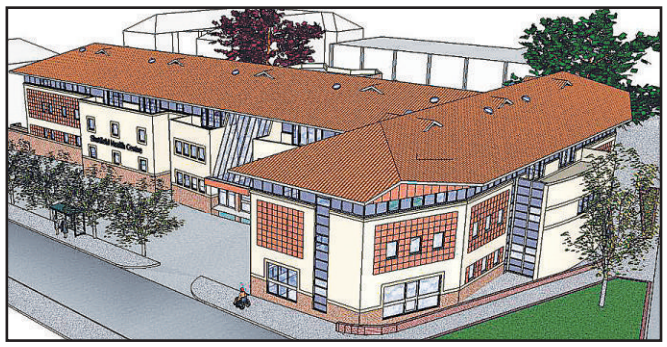
A revised planning application for a new £10million health centre in Shotfield, Wallington, is set to be submitted to the council.

The state-of-the-art centre, described as a huge boost for healthcare in Wallington, will include two GP practices, an expanded dental clinic, new chiropody clinics and theatres for minor procedures.

Eventually it will expand into a local care centre to bring hospital services closer to the community.

The building, which will include training rooms for doctors learning to be GPs and a pharmacy, will be three times the size of the existing Shotfield clinic.

Stephen Waring, director of Better Healthcare Closer to Home at Sutton and Merton Primary Care Trust (PCT), said that if the new application were successful, the centre would bring healthcare for Wallington residents into the 21st century.



Expansion: The new centre will include two GP practices

He said: "The new centre will have additional space for the doctors and nurses, as well as giving the facilities to provide a wider range of services and the opportunity to develop outpatient, diagnostic and therapy services under the Better Healthcare Closer to Home programme.

"These services are currently planned to include family planning, dentistry, podiatry, phlebotomy and baby clinics."

The PCT said the building would have state-of-the-art facilities, including a theatre suite allowing more procedures to be done locally.

That will improve the environment for patients and staff, and in particular give better access for patients with disabilities.

Mr Waring added: "It also paves the way for a local care centre to be co-located to provide diagnostic and hospital outpatient facilities. Altogether, it will be a huge boost for local healthcare in Wallington."

An original application was turned down by Sutton Council in August last year, after it was deemed not in keeping with the local area.

Your shout

Last week, we reported that the council needs to grant permission to build more than 3,450 new homes over the next 10 years. It says it wants to preserve the heartlands of the borough while building up the existing town centres, meaning the only way is up for new development. But would you like to live in a high rise block of flats? We asked shoppers in Sutton town centre what they thought.

Adam Abdel-Razak, 16, a student from Sutton, said:
"In my point of view, it does not matter if people want to live in high rises. The point is that we need housing. We are an island and we do not have much land – whether we like it or not."

Francis Humphrys, 49, unemployed, from Sutton, said:
"I would like a high rise flat – it's accommodation at the end of the day – but I would definitely want a lift. And if there was a lift, I would worry about it breaking down."

Margery Penaluna, 53, unemployed, from Spain, said:
"I can imagine a lot of lonely people living in high rises. So many were built in the UK in the 1960s and they were vandalised. We need more terraced houses here. There are high rise blocks in Spain, but they have a sense of neighbourhood.

Dee Summerfield, 64, a housewife from Cheam, said:
"Building high rises is going back to the 1960s, when some horrendous buildings were built. I don't think it will work unless they make the buildings extremely attractive."

John Gibbins, 59, a volunteer from Sutton, said:
"High rises would look good in the town centre but not outside. I would live in one but I would worry about the wind on the windows. I've heard that windows can shatter in high winds."

Michelle Ling, 23, a retail administrator from Raynes Park, said:
"I would not mind living in a high rise. The views would be good, but ideally I would live in a house with a garden."

Flagship youth enterprise

Disabled children and young people in Sutton are to benefit from a Government grant of more than £700,000.

The money, the result of a successful bid by Sutton Council and Sutton and Merton Primary Care Trust (PCT), will go towards providing short holidays – giving parents a break from their often demanding caring duties.

Councillor Tony Brett Young, chairman of the disability partnership and the council's executive member for children and young people, said the extra money was a great boost.

He added: "The successful bid shows the strength of our disability partnership and the Government's confidence in our ability to be creative and deliver good value for money.

"We have two main priorities – first, to develop better services for groups of severely disabled children, including children with autism and children with complex health needs.

"Second, we will ensure that many more disabled children will have the chance to make friends and have fun by going to ordinary youth clubs, holiday schemes and after school clubs."

The Government chose Sutton as one of two boroughs in London to act as "pathfinders" in developing good practice and offering support to other boroughs.

Sing a song: Avenue primary pupils dressed as their favourite characters Deadlinepix SU18690

Kids over the moon

Children at the Avenue Primary School in Belmont proved Jack and Jill are not over the hill when they dressed as their favourite nursery rhyme characters last week.

Teachers have struggled to silence the children at the school in Avenue Road this term, mostly because they have been bringing stories to life by reciting traditional rhymes.

Research suggests that youngsters who learn nursery rhymes are better prepared to make progress in literacy and numeracy and phonological development.

The bird brain who helped win the war

For decades, Jack Lovell was forbidden from discussing his pigeon soldiers that defied German bullets and falcons to fly to glory in World War II.
No longer bound by the Official Secrets Act, he tells KEVIN BARNES how he kept on the tail of the enemy.

Flight of fancy: (above and bottom) Two of the eight oil paintings of long-distance carrier pigeons which have sold for £10,600 at auction

There are no burnished war medals or military decorations that Jack Lovell can show you at his home in Worcester Park.

There are no history books that chronicle his ingenious triumphs against the Nazis. Even the thousands of soldiers whose lives he saved cannot vouch for his existence.

For 70 years only a few select British secret service agents knew the instrumental and wonderfully eccentric role that Jack, now aged 92, played in World War II. He supplied carrier pigeons for intelligence operations.

The scale of his influence behind enemy lines emerged earlier this month when eight oil paintings depicting long-distance pigeons fetched £10,600 at auction, five times their estimate.

The champion birds, a Bonhams spokesman announced eagerly, were direct ancestors of those Jack had stuffed into jackets or cardboard boxes for numerous Navy operations.

The retired theatre props manager, who apparently built the cybermen for Dr Who and the set for Chitty Chitty Bang Bang, was first known for the quality of his homing pigeons – not least the six durable pairs he acquired from Jules Janssen, the doyen of Belgian breeders. But it was only in 1939 they reached an audience far beyond London rooftops.

Jack says: "I remember one Sunday, when the story got round that war was about to break out, discussing with other fanciers whether pigeons would be used.

"The background is that London buses were converted into lofts, and pigeons were kept in the trenches in the First World War.

"They flew miles with messages to tell whether troops wanted reinforcements or were retreating. But I assumed carrier pigeons would be useless against the wireless radio.

"Then, one of my fancier friends said 'don't be so sure, a message transmitted by radio can be intercepted, it's not secure. The one thing about a pigeon, Jack, it can't bloody talk, can it'?"

They may be considered pests, but pigeons played a vital part in Britain's war effort

Deadlinepix MM4973

The words were prescient. Winged messengers, having relayed news of Caesar's conquest of Gaul and Wellington's victory at Waterloo, were finally set to have their wings clipped.

Then, British military commanders realised the Germans would ruthlessly track radio operators. At once, pigeon racing was stopped and peregrine falcons the length of Britain were culled, so feathered fighting machines could arrive home unhindered.

Soon Jack was approached by William Raynor, head of the Air Ministry pigeon section, to provide his fuel-efficient fowl as an early-warning system across the coast.

Wing Commander Raynor hit the headlines three years ago when declassified secret service files showed he had devised a secret kamikaze pigeon plan for the Cold War. While scientists were striving to build the atom bomb, Wing Commander Raynor considered training pigeons to disperse minuscule biological warfare agents over the enemy.

He drew heavily on research by American scientists, which claimed the birds' homing qualities were linked to the magnetic lines of force of the Earth, meaning they could be programmed to fly in a designated direction.

None of this Jack knew when MI5 asked him to provide his specially-bred Belgium birds for active service. They were to be based at four secret lofts near Dover, called the XX lofts, and trained to form a unit known as MI14, codenamed Operation Columbia.

Jack says: "We had inside connections with the French Resistance movement. We waited until all-night fisherman were out catching lobsters and put two or three pigeons in a wicker basket. A torpedo boat went out in the darkness, quickly passed it over and the birds were smuggled inland on bicycles or in jackets."

Resistance fighters then strapped metal canisters to the birds' legs that could carry a 36in sheet of paper. Dodging bullets and falconers, the pigeon warriors travelled 250 miles to bring back encrypted messages, written in microdots, for decoding at Bletchley Park, where Jack had set up new lofts.

Some of the deliveries included information for the D-Day landings in 1944, and film of V1 flying bombs being built in German weapons factories.

Later, Jack supplied the House of Commons Pigeons Service, transporting his birds in cardboard boxes to St James's Park Underground station in London.

By the end of the war, an estimated 20,000 conscripted pigeons had been killed, many ingloriously having being parachuted out of bombers.

There are stories of members of the Belgian pigeon service, tears rolling down their cheeks, shooting birds rather than let them fall into Nazi hands.

Jack, who only retired from pigeon breeding two years ago, says such a fate never befell his unsung heroes. "They must have saved thousands of lives. I didn't lose a single one, they were so well trained. After the war, one thing I would like to have done is join a pigeon racing team – I couldn't because of my theatre business. But the rewards of what I did in the war were far better, just knowing my birds were being used like that."

Let's make tram tracks

by HEATHER DARLINGTON
hdarlington@london.newsquest.co.uk

If you hate not getting a seat on the train but you do not want to succumb to driving everywhere, now is the time to join the campaign for a Sutton Tramlink extension.

Councillor Abigail Lock, Liberal Democrat London Assembly spokeswoman for Sutton and Croydon, has launched Tram It! – a campaign to extend services to Sutton.

She said: "It is high time that the pressure on our roads was eased and tram services extended to our area. Extending the tram network would not only complement existing public transport and provide an environmentally-friendly alternative to travelling by car, but also give a boost to the local economy as has been seen elsewhere."

Ms Lock said Mayor of London Ken Livingstone's "inner-London bias" on transport policies was a motivation for the campaign.

"Running the tram to Sutton would show there is an alternative to Mr Livingstone's inner-city focused transport policy. The suburbs need better public transport too," she added.

The Tramlink serves Croydon, parts of Morden, Mitcham, Beckenham and Wimbledon and is earmarked for extension in the next few years.

MP for Carshalton and Wallington Tom Brake is another person who believes that Sutton is the best contender for the extension and has already backed Ms Lock's campaign.

At the Tram It! launch at Sutton station he said: "Persuading people to abandon their cars in favour of greener forms of travel must be part of Britain's long-term transport strategy. I am thrilled to back the campaign."

Local residents can express their support for the Tram It! campaign by signing the online petition at campaigns.libdems.org.uk/trams.

Extension: Councillor Abigail Lock wants the Croydon trams to come to Sutton

Plans for future

Residents still have a chance to have their say in Sutton Council's planning strategy for the future.

Outlined in the plans are a commitment to improve public transport links, proposals to reduce parking provision, and suggestions for areas which can be developed into housing and industrial areas. Hackbridge, for example, has been earmarked as an area suitable for another eco-development similar to BedZed. To see the plans and have you say see sutton.gov.uk/currentconsultations.

Pre-suburb observation

An exhibition looking at Carshalton before it became a suburb closes this Sunday. The event, hosted by Ecolocal, is on at the Honeywood Heritage Centre in Honeywood Walk, Carshalton. Admission is £1.60 (80p for children) which includes entrance to the house. Open Wednesday to Friday 11am to 5pm and at weekends from 10am to 5pm.

For more information phone 020 8770 4297.

Taken ride

Latest Met figures show that 13 bikes were reported stolen in Sutton in November last year. This figure is lower than in neighbouring boroughs and a steady drop in thefts since September, when 25 bikes were reported stolen.

"When we saw the advert for Free Wills Fortnight in our local newspaper, we knew that this could be a perfect opportunity to have our Wills written professionally by a solicitor and to leave something to causes close to our hearts."

Peace of mind

Free Wills Fortnight offers you peace of mind, knowing that you have made your wishes clear in your Will.

Depending on you

All of the charities depend on gifts in Wills – legacies – for a substantial part of their income.

That's why the charities are encouraging people aged 55 and over to make their Will by paying for a limited number of Wills to be written by local solicitors. Though not obliged to include a legacy in your Will, will you take this opportunity to remember your favourite cause? Please call one of the solicitors (listed in the box, left) today.

Before Larry was put in prison the only artist he had heard of was Picasso. Now as he leafs through his art book he name-checks half a dozen whose work he has come to admire during his time behind bars.

"I've now had the opportunity to look at work by people like Modigliani and to copy it. I'm really proud of the drawing I've just done, it's a copy of Matisse's picture, Hair," he said.

Larry is one of the 40 or so prisoners at Highdown whose work will be on display in Sutton next week. In its sixth year, the art and writing exhibition is being hosted at Sutton Library for the first time, something which guarantees a greater audience.

For the past two years members of the public have been invited to judge the works and winners will be presented with their awards by Channel 4 news presenter John Snow.

Larry is hopeful people will like his work but he said winning was not everything. His Matisse copy is a faithful reproduction of the original drawn with confident pencil strokes.

"When I started the course two months ago I drew an egg to practice my shading. Now I like to copy photos of people, I like drawing humans and animals as I like the curves of natural forms," Larry added.

by LISA WILLIAMS
lisaw@london.newsquest.co.uk

The egg shading exercise is what most new recruits to the art course start off with.

"When guys first come to the class some take to it like a duck to water, others will draw the egg and screw it up as they don't think it's good enough," said fellow inmate Craig – who has been on the art course for six months and is now a classroom assistant.

Luckily art teacher Charlotte Gregory is there to coax out their talent and encourage them to carry on.

"She definitely encourages us," said Craig, "I took out all my work recently and I was surprised at the progression in my work. I wouldn't say I'm the best artist but I'm proud of what I've done."

Both men admit that joining the course was a way of breaking up the monotony of paying their debts to society.

Craig said: "At first prison life is about sitting in your cell and if you don't do any work or education then the prison is a pretty bleak place to be."

Now Craig decorates his cell with his bright abstracts and has a waiting list of prisoners who have commissioned him to produce works for theirs. Larry adds that, rather than being ridiculed, other prisoners like to come up him with what they have drawn so he can give them his opinion.

They are also certain of the effect that being part of the art course has had on them.

"I was quite a shy person at the beginning, I kept myself to myself but being a classroom assistant means I've progressed from not being so shy, I've been helping people and chatting to them. I think it's helped me come out of myself," he said.

Building self confidence is one of the main objectives of providing activities such as the art class, according to Evelyn Nickford – head of the prison's learning and skills.

"If people have low literacy and numeracy skills, one sure way of encouraging them is to get them on to a cookery or art course. They are the non-threatening 'lighter' options to make them realise their ability, then we hope they'll think about doing basic skills courses," she said.

Affiliated with Epsom's Nescot College, the prison's education department has a school-like atmosphere with a computer room, an art workshop and several classrooms.

"Some of the guys actually call it school. I think for some of them, who missed out on schooling, this is a second chance," she said.

"A lot of them lack social skills," added Sheila Dring, head of education, "doing a cooking course they get a chance to work with the others in a bit of a team, eating a meal together at the end is perhaps something they never do in normal life."

Neither are they likely to have a one-to-one creative writing tutor in real life but Mark Norfolk, Highdown's writer in residence, is teaching inmates about literature.

"Part of my role is to encourage prisoners to express themselves through writing. I hope I give them the chance to express another side to themselves which is otherwise hidden," Mark, who is also a filmmaker and published writer, said.

Evelyn claims she has seen a marked difference in creative output since Mark arrived two years ago, possibly because he has the ability to talk to anyone and he lets nothing stand in the way of prisoners' writing.

He said: "There should be no barriers to writing. If we tell someone what they've written is wrong we've lost them. They won't try again.

"Most people have the ability to tell a story and to understand a story. I try to make them understand that their stories are valued, even if they have literacy problems."

Expressing themselves through art and writing can also be a means of therapy and self awareness.

Evelyn mentioned one man, a withdrawn self-harmer, who got to drawing graphic and violent images during his art class.

"The teacher was not happy with it so she spoke to him about it and gave him a book so he could draw them in there. She would look at them and comment on the techniques used and they discussed the art part, that was a kind of therapy for him. To unburden himself of it.

"He wouldn't look anyone in the eye when he first came here, but we have a picture of him at the awards ceremony and he's looking straight into the camera with a big smile. It was hard to believe it was the same person," she said.

Having grown up in care homes herself, Evelyn said she feels a certain sympathy for the men inside, whom she sometimes refers to as her "little bunnies", but she draws the line at condoning their crimes.

"I make it very clear that I don't agree with what they have done to get here, and if they use the excuse of growing up in care I tell them to look at me to see it's no excuse. But I do feel that while they're inside they deserve to be treated like human beings," she said.

Mark agreed that it takes a certain kind of person to work in a prison, and a "hang-'em-and-flog-'em" approach is not compatible with the environment.

He said: "There's a lot of characters here and that's just the style of the place. It's not a regular place of work so you have to have an inquiring personality or liberal attitude or you wouldn't do it."

They are hoping that seeing prisoners' art and writing at the exhibition will help to break down any prejudice the public may have about those inside. While prisoner are not allowed to the exhibition itself, students at Nescot College will be filming the event so those at Highdown can see people looking and commenting on their work.

Among the guests at this year's opening ceremony will be staff of the prison and their partners, local councillors and Paul Burstow MP, along with two other special guests.

Sheila said: "Two former prisoners who have done their time have asked to come to the exhibition. It's very unusual for prisoners to have anything to do with the prison once they've left, very unusual indeed."

The HMP Highdown exhibition opens to the public for a week starting Tuesday, January 29 at Sutton Library in St Nicholas Way. The library is open from 9am-8pm.

Police have bad image

What is happening to the police in Sutton High Street at the weekends?

I was in Sutton on Friday night for a meal and waited for my friend for about 10 minutes outside KFC. There were about 10 boys and girls also waiting for their friends.

I went into KFC to buy something when three police cars pulled up, full of officers. They got out of the cars like there had been a bank robbery.

They spoke to these kids like they were something they scraped off their shoe. I was disgusted by the way they treated them, they were not doing or saying anything to anyone but their own friends.

I was always taught to get respect you have to give respect. I can see now why the police don't get much respect.

The police officer that seemed to be in charge, the sergeant, was the worst bully out of all of them.

It is a sad situation when the so-called police's foul language is worse than the people they are meant to be sorting out.

'Time local governments' decisions were examined'

Sadly the experience of Sheridan Wheldon (Garden grab means I can't sell my home, Epsom Guardian, January 17) is becoming all too common in this neck of the woods.

Time was when the planning department respected the interests of rate paying residents. For example, when I constructed a conservatory adjacent to the boundary with the neighbour next to a 6ft high fence, the planning department insisted that I construct the wall of the conservatory next to the boundary of brick instead of glazing, to prevent any future loss of privacy by the neighbour.

I was quite happy to comply because the reverse situation could have applied. That same department over a 15-year period failed to consider applying tree preservation orders on nearby land that is begging to be developed.

Recently about 30 mature trees were ring-barked in one day on that same land, despite protests by neighbours, and subsequently felled in preparation for future development.

Belatedly, a tree officer attended to confirm the obvious that nothing could be done to stop the felling. It transpires that the land has a restrictive covenant applicable. Surprise, surprise – when that is mentioned to the planning department, its response is that they are not interested in any such covenant for planning approval.

It would be up to parties adversely affected by any development to challenge any unwanted building application in the courts. And it may well come to that.

It is time that the inconsistent and arbitrary decisions made by local government are examined with a view to regulating their modus operandi, eliminating all suspicions of corruption and incompetence, and operating standards that support local feelings and moral rights before giving way to the lucrative demands of land speculators.

The widespread pillaging of brownfield sites by land speculators – in other words, of back gardens – has been encouraged by this appalling and incompetent government in the deluded belief that the creation of 300,000 new homes in the south-east will create affordable homes.

That argument may have been valid had there been some measure of control of immigration – we all know that there never has been.

Immigrants have the same desires and needs for affordable homes with the result that, in compliance with the laws of supply and demand, house prices do not deflate unless other economic factors arise.

EDWARD WILLHOFT
received by email

We should turn tables

I entirely agree with Sheridan Weldon ('Garden grab means I can't sell my home, Epsom Guardian, January 17).

However, as I understand, it this ruling originated from central Government, so I am not holding my breath for any change.

However, I deplore Epsom Council's comment that the potential impact on value or saleability of property is not a material consideration when considering an application.

One cannot help but wonder what the reaction would be if the value of a councillor's home was under threat from a planning application.

ROY DONOVAN
Worcester Park

How much longer for green and pleasant land?

The article by Helen Crane (Garden grab means I can't sell my home, Epsom Guardian, January 17) has prompted us to express our concern about building developments which have already been completed and more which seem to be planned.

We moved here almost four years ago and in that time we have written to the planning department protesting about three different proposed plans to demolish the cottage at 57 Salisbury Road in order, this time, to construct a building three storeys high to contain thirteen flats.

While looking on Chris Grayling MP's website we found that he, "appreciates the strains faced by local residents who are faced with repeated applications for sites near their homes".

Sheridan Wheldon has lost a potential buyer for her home and it has also gone down in value because Epsom and Ewell Council gave permission for someone to sell their garden, thus making a lot of money, and totally disregarding the impact that this would have on the local residents.

Unfortunately she is not the only one. This is a national problem, but does it have to be accepted in Epsom and Ewell?

We are very concerned about the impact that the demolition of 57 Salisbury Road will have on the local area, as Ms Wheldon has experienced.

The latest issue of the council's magazine says that Epsom and Ewell has been named the third best place to live in the UK. It is a lovely borough and we do enjoy the large garden that we have and the close proximity to a park and the "leafy neighbourhoods" referred to, but for how long?

Do we have any control over our local environment and use of land? It is possible that we might not have the much praised qualities that make this borough a highly rated place to live, should every piece of "spare" land be built on?

Not only are we concerned about proposed buildings but, in the short period we have lived here, we have had golf clubs stolen from our vehicle, which was on our drive, and our caravan graffitied twice. The police told us they could do almost nothing to catch the people responsible.

Young people frequently walk up and down the road and drop glass bottles on the driveways. With more properties, there would be more people which could lead to greater crime and of course more traffic.

We echo Ms Wheldon's plea not to allow "garden grabbing" or any further sale of land for big developments because we would really like Epsom and Ewell to remain the third, or even become the best place to live in the UK.

CHRISTINA AND WARWICK LOGAN

Laughable

It is laughable for Dr Ken Andrews to petition over post office closures when Sutton council does not support local ones.

For example, the council has taken away the issuing of Elderly Freedom Passes which post offices in Sutton used to do.

Also, the council would prefer council tax bills to be paid by direct debit or directly at civic offices. Furthermore, TV licenses cannot be paid at post offices any longer.

With work being taken away from post offices it is not viable for them all to remain open. I would like to know what MPs are going to do about this before actually petitioning for something that the council is partly responsible for.

Charge to ruin things

I live in a house on my own.

I am nearly 90-years-old, so that is probably why I do not have much waste. Vegetable waste is composted and I do not have meat waste, so my bins would not have much in them.

I live near other old people who use bags so I allow them to use my bins to stop animals tearing them open, but if there was a charge for the amount of rubbish collected I would have to stop this.

W HOARS

New collection ideas will cause whole lotta trouble

All these new ideas the council has for recycling, which, while sounding good if they work, will save people who find it difficult getting to recycling banks a lot of trouble.

But can someone tell me why businesses and offices – which create a lot of recycling – are now being told their green bins are no longer being emptied? They have to either take their own recycling to the sites or pay to have it collected.

Surely they pay council tax the same as tenants and householders?

'I don't want schoolchildren peering into my house and garden all day'

I read with interest the article titled 'Garden grab means I can't sell my home', Epsom Guardian, January 17.

This brings a whole new angle to my fears for the development being planned for the school playing field behind my house.

My garden measures only about 65ft from my kitchen window to my back fence, not the 130 feet that Sheridan Wheldon has and this will be a school, not houses.

What could be worse than looking out at huge buildings and having a few hundred teenagers peering into your house and garden all day?

As detailed in an email I sent to the Surrey County Council Councillor Jan Mason and the representative from the consultants handling the proposed development plans, my primary concern had been for the loss of another green space (and its home to wildlife and plants) and the additional traffic to further choke our residential roads.

When we purchased our house more than four years ago, primarily because it had such a good aspect to both front and rear and was likely to have the wildlife I had always been used to, I had been mindful of the fact that the green fields could be sold off and developed.

On investigation, I had taken comfort in the Surrey Local Plan, which seemed to be protective of open space and recreational facilities.

I have not yet received a reply to my email, but will update you, if you would be interested in the reply.

In case you want it, the telephone number for Joanne Laban is 0870 066 8751.

The pre-planning exhibition at the school is open on Friday, January 25, between 3:30 and 7:30 and on Saturday, January 26, between 10am and 4pm.

Best regards

In Memoriam

In Loving Memory of my dearest daughter

KIM FRANCIS SHRUBB

(Chiswell)

8.6.59 - 21.1.2006

If I could have a life time wish and one dream that could come true,
I would pray to God with all my heart just to see and speak to you
A thousand words won't bring you back,
I know because I have tried and neither will a million tears I know because I've cried.
You left behind our broken hearts and precious memories too,
But we never wanted memories we only wanted you
Love and miss you so much
Mum

It's Smokin'

THEATRE:

Smokey Joe's Café, Epsom Playhouse

Paul Fleckney

If you go to any West End show this weekend, there is a good chance you will see a graduate of the Songtime musical theatre company.

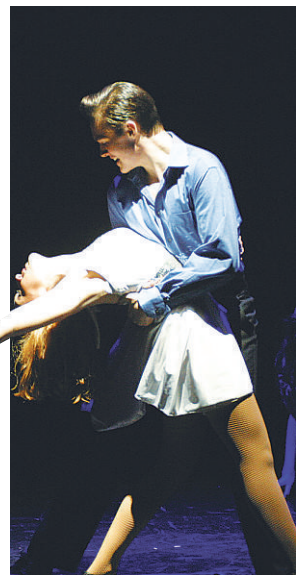
Since 1991, Songtime has been dropping tasty young morsels of talent into the gaping mouth of London's theatres and has countless success stories to its name, including a few famous alumni (more on that later).

But you have a chance to see the latest Songtime students in action at its spiritual home, Epsom Playhouse, where they will perform the classic tale of Smokey Joe's Café.

The show is by Leiber and Stoller, who virtually invented rock 'n' roll 50 years ago when they started writing for Elvis.

Matthew Chandler, Songtime founder, says: "Smokey Joe's is a classic rock 'n' roll musical as it is not a book musical, it is a jukebox show, so it is different to things like Les Miserables. It has some of the greatest songs from the Leiber and Stoller catalogue and people seem to love it.

"We have kept it in period and used our best vocalists. Most of the show's principals have done the big London shows."



And you can be sure some of the teenagers you see onstage will go onto bigger things. "We are represented in every show in town," continues Matthew, "we are currently in Billy Elliot, Les Miserables and Phantom – we have been very successful. It is always such an honour to see them up there."

Part of Matthew's drive over the years has been to continue in memory of his friend, Claire Newell, with whom he founded Songtime. Claire died due to cystic fibrosis just six weeks after the first Songtime show. Back then, there were only 20 pupils – now there are about 600.

Notable graduates include Preeya Kalidas, a huge Asian musical theatre star, having starred in Bombay Dreams and Joseph, as well as Bend It Like Beckham. Away from musical theatre, 37-year-old Matthew and his colleagues have also nurtured EastEnders' Janine Butcher, Charlie Brooks, and Mark Read, of band A1.

With this sort of pedigree and such vintage songs, Smokey Joe's Café is destined to be another memorable show for Songtime.

Smokey Joe's Café; Epsom Playhouse, Ashley Avenue. January 24-25, £15, call 01372 742555/742227 or visit epsomplayhouse.co.uk

The week ahead

Consult the doctor

Dr Seuss remains one of the most popular children's writers and Seussical is a musical version of his characters. The show, at the Charles Cryer, is performed by members of the Betty Wivell Academy of Performing Arts, which has fed the West End many a talented kid. Until Saturday.

Last chance? Oh no it's not...

Carshalton Pantomime Company's wonderful performance of Sleeping Beauty continues this week at the Secombe. It has been given the odd modern tweak but is still the old tale we know and love. Until Saturday.

Wartime exhibitions

Cheam's Whitehall and the Honeywood Heritage Centre are continuing their respective exhibitions. The former hosts a travelling exhibition by Birkbeck College about pre-WWI film and the latter features Carshalton's James Farrar, the WWI victim whose poetry is having a renaissance. All week (Whitehall closed Mon-Tues).

Cockney six-piece

Chas and Dave have built up a firm following in the area, having played Leatherhead Theatre a few times, and they return this weekend with more classic songs and plenty of witty banter. Next Thursday.

Aries March 21 - April 20

There are several opportunities before you this week to impress important faces. Don't blow it Aries; this is what you've been waiting for. An apology you owe to a Scorpio must be made before Thursday if you are to avoid a full blown row. Libran's make interesting offers in love. Call my starline now to make the most of this week.

Call: 0906 585 4732

Taurus April 21 - May 21

It is going to be all too easy for you to blame the wrong faces for things that went wrong earlier this month. Careful though Taurus, your words could cost you dearly if you accuse a sign with a temper. Your best bet is to lie low and wait for Friday's exciting revelations. Call now to hear why they could just change the course of your life.

Call: 0906 585 4733

Gemini May 22 - June 21

Be prepared for a dramatic change of heart that could well see you making a shocking announcement before this month is out. You've put up with a lot so far this year and it's only January. You're taking a stand my friend and I'm behind you all the way. Call my starline now to hear how Venus can offer you the chance of a lifetime.

Call: 0906 585 4734

Cancer June 22 - July 22

It's going to be hard for anyone to get the better of you this week. You hold all the aces as informant which came into your possession last weekend has given you the key to your freedom. Not so quick though. Don't you want to take a certain person with you on your journey to a new and improve future? Call now for a peak at your destiny.

Call: 0906 585 4735

Leo July 23 - Aug 24

A brush with legal dealings may leave you a little worried but should see you with a smile on your face before this month is over. You've taken a lot of chances but your instincts have been spot on. You're about to learn how confidence wins you half the battle my friend. Call my starline now to hear why education brings fortune and luck.

Call: 0906 585 4736

Virgo Aug 23 - Sept 22

Travel is well starred and allows you to make a difference to the areas of your life which have lain stagnant recently. You need to make up your mind if a certain face is in or out of your life and evidence which comes before you on Friday will help you make up your mind once and for all. Call now to hear what Jupiter is planning.

Call: 0906 585 4737

Libra Sept 23 - Oct 23

Your ruling planet Venus brings your emotions to the fore. It will no longer be possible for you to accept a certain person's behaviour. Things you wanted from life change as you have at last got a glimpse at the bigger picture. Aries tell you lies, don't act on their words. Call me now to hear why career choices this week dictate love affairs.

Call: 0906 585 4738

Scorpio Oct 24 - Nov 21

I know you miss someone who isn't around. The truth is though Scorpio that you can either wallow in the past or you can get on with exploring the future. A new face is offering you a welcoming hand. What's taking you so long to accept it? Cancerian's know the answer to a question you harbour about love. Call now for confidence and structure.

Call: 0906 585 4739

Sagittarius Nov 22 - Dec 20

Riches are calling all you have to do my friend is be willing to put in some hard work. Your reputation is catching up you with you in love and its make your mind up time. You have until Friday in fact, so use the time before to do some serious soul searching please. Call my starline now to hear why weddings and babies are relevant.

Call: 0906 585 4740

Capricorn Dec 21 - Jan 20

New surroundings blow fresh inspiration into your life and offer you the chance to get away from past issues which have hung like a cloud over your head since last year. Family want a commitment you don't want to give but should. Reasons why become apparent on Sunday. Call now to hear who can offer you better career choices.

Call: 0906 585 4741

Aquarius Jan 21 - Feb 19

The sun is in your sign and is allowing you to feel confident about issues which last month you could not understand let alone conquer. This would be a good time therefore to tackle a financial issue. Not only can solutions be found but riches can be made too. Call me now to hear why love will require you to travel a distance soon.

Call: 0906 585 4742

Pisces Feb 20 - March 20

You can ignore bills or you can make up your mind to face your debts and to find solutions for them. Romance makes an offer that will both shock and surprise those around you but will feel to you as if events really have come full circle. And for reasons which only you will understand. Call me now for a shocking career update.

Films This week's ones to watch

SWEENEY TODD: THE DEMON BARBER OF FLEET STREET (18): Director Tim Burton goes for the jugular with his depiction of the vengeful Sweeney Todd. Johnny Depp brings his distinctive take to the central role and his singing voice is impressive. Burton doesn't shy away from violence and there is copious bloodletting. ★★★★☆

IN THE VALLEY OF ELAH (15): Tommy Lee Jones and Charlize Theron star in this slow-burning thriller inspired by true events, centred on a troubled soldier who goes missing after he returns from Iraq. Writer-director Paul Haggis struggles to generate sufficient dramatic momentum to carry the film through two hours. ★★★☆☆

NO COUNTRY FOR OLD MEN (15): No This holds the audience in a vicelike grip as the Coen brothers crank up the tension. Javier Bardem chills to the bone with a discomfiting portrayal of an unstoppable angel of death, with scintillating turns from Josh Brolin and Tommy Lee Jones, the latter tingeing his role with humour as dry as the Texan desert. ★★★★★

ALIENS VS PREDATOR – REQUIEM (15): True to its title, Requiem is the final wheeze for a dying franchise. Dialogue is laughable and the stupidity of mankind never ceases to amaze. ★☆☆☆☆

WALK HARD: THE DEWEY COX STORY (15): Walk Hard hits too many bum notes to reach the giddy heights of Judd Apatow's previous films, Knocked Up and The 40-Year-Old Virgin. Although John C Reilly certainly cuts an endearing swagger as the eponymous showman. ★★★☆☆

DAN IN REAL LIFE (PG): This sketches its quirky characters with such affection, and delivers each set-piece with such panache, it is hard to resist Peter Hedges' bittersweet confection. The pairing of Steve Carell (Little Miss Sunshine) and Juliette Binoche generates sparks of chemistry. ★★★★☆

CHARLIE WILSON'S WAR (15): Considering the glittering calibre of talent on offer, this is a disappointment. Tom Hanks and Julia Roberts are solid but the film only comes to life when Philip Seymour Hoffman bursts onto screen as the sardonic, anti-authoritarian CIA agent who isn't below underhand tactics like blackmail to get his way. ★★★★☆

P.S. I LOVE YOU (12A): Two-time Oscar winner Hilary Swank squanders her talents in this tepid romantic comedy based on the best-selling book about a young woman coming to terms with the loss of her husband. Love across the supernatural divide may have endured for Patrick Swayze and Demi Moore but here, it is dead on arrival. ★☆☆☆☆

LUST, CAUTION (18): Ang Lee directs this slow-burning adaptation of Eileen Chang's short story Se Jei, set against the Japanese occupation of Shanghai during World War II. A meticulous study of female repression, the film is achingly slow paced, punctuated with graphic sex scenes that leave nothing to the imagination. ★★★★☆

The smiling assassin

COMEDY: Michael McIntyre, Epsom Playhouse
Paul Fleckney

Readers of our sister newspaper, the Surrey Comet, may have noticed Michael McIntyre get a regular mention in our weekly interview with a comedian. Particularly when said comedian is asked "which comics are you most enjoying at the moment?" or "who should have won the if.comedy award last year?"

It seems comedians can't get enough of McIntyre at the moment and your opportunity has come as he comes to Epsom Playhouse for a one-off show next week.

One of the many comedians to live in north London's suburban paradise, Muswell Hill, this one lives the middle-class life more unashamedly and with better gags than the others.

In fact, the new-found dominance of middle-class comedians is somewhat unpopular, akin to the arrival of the Vikings or the grey squirrel. They have no regard for what they trample underfoot and shall prevail.

But McIntyre is a big, grinning exception to the rule. His material and delivery are just too good to resist, as is his ability to riff on the spot with some unscheduled banter. And, while he is likely to talk about things like Waitrose and his kids' vomit, he is also the smiling assassin.

At his Edinburgh Festival show last year, I watched him (brilliantly) take the mickey out of Scotland for much of the show, not to mention swipe a punter's bag (complete with detailed bank statements) and rifle through it onstage. Easy targets? Yep and feel free to feel guilty at how hilarious you find his cruel streak. After all, his Edinburgh show sold out every night of its two-week run at Soho Theatre.

Let's have a look at his credentials. On the gogglebox, you can see him regularly on Mock the Week, 8 Out of 10 Cats and Have I Got News For You, plus he has his own Paramount Comedy special – Live From The Comedy Store.

He was a nominee in the 2003 Perrier Best Newcomer Awards and, last year, chortle.co.uk – the comedy fans' online bible, made him Headliner of the Year.

Confident without being arrogant, cheeky but not lightweight, cutting but not brazenly offensive. If you haven't discovered Michael McIntyre yet, then it is time to get involved.

Michael McIntyre; Epsom Playhouse, Ashley Avenue, Epsom. Tuesday, February 5, 8pm, £14.50/£11.60, call 01372 742555/742227 or visit epsomplayhouse.co.uk for booking details (returns only).

Big name: Michael McIntyre comes to Epsom Playhouse

Get all shook up

CONCERT: Lee 'Memphis' King, Secombe Theatre
Paul Fleckney

Secombe Theatre is fast becoming the new Graceland, such is the regularity with which it becomes swamped with Elvis devotees.

Next Tuesday, it will happen all over again as Lee 'Memphis' King (yes, that is his real name) returns due to overwhelming public demand. King played twice at the Secombe in November but sold out before you can say 'uh-huh-huh', which isn't very long at all.

And this guy is the real deal. Okay, not quite the real deal but he is as good as Elvis impersonators get, having been declared the best Elvis tribute artist in the world at the 2005 Collingwood Elvis Festival in Canada in 2005 (arguably the biggest of all Elvis contests).

He also heavily featured on BBC1's World's Greatest Elvis last year but the hip-shaking Welshman narrowly missed out on the grand final.

Having developed his lip curl and quivering baritone since he began impersonating Elvis at the age of five, Lee turned pro six years ago and the product is an energetic show which covers the early years of hip-swivelling rock 'n' roll, the movie years and the Vegas years.

The show doesn't stop there though for Elvis fans, as the Secombe also has lined up Gordon Hendricks, winner of the 2005 Stars In Their Eyes, for April.

So get booking – it's now or never!

Mods on menu

Rev up those Lambrettas. The Boom Boom Club celebrates the enduring appeal of classic Mod music when Who's Who? plays the venue this Friday and the Mods play their 2008 show on Saturday.

Who's Who? have made a name for themselves by recreating the band's early Mod hits, as well as offering the highlights of both Tommy and Quadrophenia.

The Mods, meanwhile, bring a stellar line-up to bear upon the best of Mod music from 1964 to 1970.

The high-energy set places the emphasis on Marriott's Small Faces, the Who, the Kinks, the Animals and even Desmond Dekker.

Who's Who?/The Mods; Boom Boom Club, Borough Sports Ground, Gander Green Lane, Sutton. this Friday (Who) and Saturday (Mods), 7.30pm doors. Friday £8adv/£10, Saturday £10adv/£12, call 01784 46 00 94 or visit boomboomlive.co.uk for booking and details.

Band focus The Paper House Project

Eligible? Paper House members Chris, Rut, Chu and Paul

Who's who?

Chris Mays – guitar and vocals, 29; Rut Dawson – bass and harmonies, 27; Chu Bishop – guitar and melodies, 27; Paul Workman – drums & percussion, 27.

Formed when, where and how?

We have all known each other for years, we've been writing and developing our music since January 2006. Paul joined in April 2007 and we have been gigging since September, building up local support before we go on tour to London and Sheffield in the spring.

Sound/influences

Jane's Addiction, Bloc Party, Deus, Pink Floyd, Secret Machines, The Black Crowes, Pearl Jam, Blind Melon, the Beatles, Soundgarden, Temple of the Dog, LSD, Mother Love Bone, Kings of Leon, RHCP, Powderfinger, Massive Attack, Morcheeba, Moving Shadow.

Any groupies?

Loads but more welcome.

Coolest member

Paul because he knows kung fu and he will kick your a*se.

Where do you play?

We have just played Rock-Stock at the Charles Cryer and also Nescot College last Friday. We will be playing the Grey hHorse, Kingston, on January 31, with a return to the Fighting Cocks, Kingston, shortly.

Which local bands are you friends with?

The Winners, Joe Kinsey, Dorp, Scoobs and Charlie 'Arry

Industry interest?

We are keen to attract a manager who can take the band to the next level.

Any singles/albums?

We have just released our demo (available at myspace.com/thepaperhouse-projectmusic), recorded at Skyline, Epsom and engineered by Jez Larder. It has been produced really well and I think it gives a clear idea about what we are all about.

Claim to fame

The money would be more useful right now.

Most rock 'n' roll moment

Too many and not printable in a family paper.

What's your dream?

To headline Glastonbury. Then you can say you have made it.

Fantasy festival?

Jeff Buckley, Blind Melon, the Beatles, Temple of the Dog, Radiohead.

Your anti-festival?

We all have a keen hatred for manufactured pop bands. Pass me the gun.

The song we wish we had written...

We can't agree on this one!

Any bizarre incidents?

On stage, Chris turned around and smashed his guitar into Chu's face, busting his chops and giving him a nice shiner.

Anything else?

Kingswood House offers strong leadership, clear goals and a big heart

Offering strong leadership

Kingswood House is an extremely successful school with strong leadership, clear goals and a big heart.

It prides itself on being committed, challenging and more than capable of delivering the expectations of both pupils and their parents.

Set in the heart of greenbelt land in Epsom, the school has been serving the local community for more than 100 years. It is a progressive school that provides a nurturing and protective environment for boys aged three to 13 and girls aged three to seven.

A spokesman for the school said: "Do come and visit us, see the pupils and staff in action and truly capture the essence of what Kingswood House is all about.

"We guarantee that you will leave with a lasting impression of an excellent school that personally meets the needs of each and every pupil.

"Our next open morning is being held on Thursday, January 31 and Saturday, February 2.

"If you would like to attend or would like to visit the school at any other time, please contact us on 01372 723590."

Where children enjoy life

Downsend School provides a stimulating, educational package for children aged two to 13 with a broad based curriculum leading to outstanding academic success. This is a friendly school in which relationships between staff and pupils are excellent and happy faces abound.

Younger children attend one of the school's three pre-preparatory lodges, situated in Leatherhead, Ashtead and Epsom. Here they undertake the important formative stages of learning in small classes with supportive staff.

In Leatherhead, the main site provides education for children aged six to13 and enjoys an enviable record of success in Common Entrance and scholarship examinations. A wide sporting programme and a huge range of clubs, further enhances the schedule.

The active programme continues into the holidays when Downsend+ takes over; and Downsend Nursery+ for younger girls and boys aged two to four. Combined with term time schooling, Downsend has the potential to offer 50 week child care from 8am to 5.30pm.

This is a school for children who enjoy life. Call 01372 372311 for an appointment or come along to an open morning.

DOWNSEND

a school for children who enjoy life!

Leatherhead • Ashtead • Epsom

At Downsend we are proud of our children's smiles, their talents and their successes.

Downsend is a co-educational day preparatory school, providing education from 2 to 13. With three separate pre-preparatory Lodges, each with its own Head and dedicated staff, and a main school site for the older children, Downsend provides a refreshingly different education.

The best way to judge a school is by studying the faces of its pupils. You are always welcome, so come and visit us and see for yourself.

Food for love

Jimmy Spice's has already earned a good reputation in both Solihull and Birmingham City Centre where it has two popular branches and now the chain of eateries has set its sights on wowing Epsom.

A huge financial investment has been made in setting up of its latest venture. The décor and ambience is second to none and creates a relaxed and inviting atmosphere.

The concept of Jimmy Spice's is unusual in that it caters for not one, not two, but essentially four different ethnic cuisines with an extensive menu that serves Italian, Chinese, Thai and Indian food. It offers diners the chance to sample new dishes and flavours from all over the world, all under one roof.

There are four central open kitchens where diners can help themselves or alternatively have the option of requesting a dish of their choice from one of the chefs in the kitchen.

In addition to the main cuisines, there is a large selection of desserts ranging from classics such as Italian tiramisu to chocolate brownies and Indian sweets.

To celebrate Valentine's Day with a difference, Jimmy Spice's will be adding a hint of romance to their buffet menus with the promise of a glass of champagne, plus chocolate and roses for £19.95 per person.

Park life

The Grange Restaurant and bar offers an impressive range of cuisine in a modern space, writes Rebecca Barnes

With more than 100 covers catered for and wonderful views overlooking Beddington Park, The Grange Restaurant serves up modern British cuisine in a relaxed, contemporary environment. At the helm is head chef Joe Thadami, who has worked at fine dining establishments including The Ivy and The Dorchester.

When we visited one lunchtime, the large restaurant, which is housed within a listed building, was comfortably busy.

As we surveyed the menu, the waitress brought us our drinks before returning to take our starter orders – chicken liver pate served with chutney and warm rustic bread, and scrambled eggs with smoked salmon on muffins. Portions are very generous and perfect for whetting the appetite before the main course.

To follow, I chose Scottish salmon glazed with lemon and chilli butter, served with creamy mashed potatoes and seasonal green vegetables, while my colleague opted for one of the 'specials' - large Yorkshire pudding filled with wild mushrooms, asparagus and basil cream.

All dishes are cooked to order, and all ingredients locally sourced and freshly prepared, and there was a good amount of time in-between courses to relax and enjoy the atmosphere.

To finish, we had just enough space to share the warming homemade fruit crumble of the day served with custard.

If you prefer something a little more exotic or are looking for an accommodating space for a private party or large group, try The Park Suite restaurant on the first floor, which features the 'treasures of Indian cuisine and the essence of China:' the eclectic, highly tempting menu includes vegetarian and non vegetarian dishes, seafood, crab and lobster, rice, noodles, breads and salads.

Good food and great atmosphere

The Famous Green Man in Ewell Village is a place which is sure to leave you not only impressed by the quality and range of its real ales and continental lagers but also by the variety of food it offers.

Whether or not you are eating in one of their three bars or the more formal restaurant area, you will be spoilt for choice from the many freshly prepared dishes on offer. British pub classics such as their home-made steak and kidney puddings, bangers and mash, liver and bacon and ham, egg and chips will always be popular, but the more adventurous will seek out the chef's special dishes.

These always include fish and seafood such as mussels, tiger prawns, scallops, sea bass and salmon all prepared, cooked and presented in original and appetising ways. Succulent steaks, tasty racks of lamb and delicious duck will keep the meat-eaters happy and at lunch-time a good range of sandwiches, paninis, salads and pasta are great snacks.

The Famous Green Man serves food throughout the day from noon until 9pm, Monday to Saturday and from noon until 5pm on Sunday.

B is for... Beacon Ramblers

Walk on: The Ramblers on a trip to Malta

What is it?

It's a rambling group! Every Sunday, they meet and take a good, hearty walk through the countryside. It began in 1963 in Dorking and it is an informal set-up, organised by a committee, independent from the Ramblers' Association. Word on the thoroughfare is that Beacon Ramblers was formed by a group of people who found their group took over-long lunches and wanted something more dedicated to walking.

Who goes there?

Usually about 15-20 people pull on their walking boots each week, although there are about 75 official members.

Where would I go?

Normally Surrey, Sussex or Kent. The group's tri-yearly programme is about to be sent out and you can expect jaunts to places such as Sevenoaks, Reigate Hill, Westerham and Cowden, near Hever. During winter, London walks sometimes take place. More local walks have taken place along the Oaks Park river and in Sutton. The committee tries to stick to three 10-mile walks and one six-miler each month.

Further afield

Weekends away occur three or four times a year, including a camping weekend in summer. Last year, the Ramblers stretched their legs in the Peak District, Dorset, Sussex and Isle of Wight.

International relations

Five years ago, the group began stepping out abroad for week-long trips organised through professional rambling holiday groups. They have visited Tenerife, Italy, Malta, Majorca and, this year, about 20 members will visit Montenegro.

Social animals

The ramblers have a few dates on their social calendar, such as the annual January meal (which used to be a Christmas meal but the food was often too bad) at the Cock at Headley. There is also a summer barbeque at a member's house and occasional photo evenings where you can show off your snaps of previous walks.

Want your group featured? Call Paul Fleckney on 0208 329 9377

Interested in joining?

Then call Pat Bradford on 020 8647 9865. Any age is welcome.

Stars wanted

Talented, enthusiastic young people aged 14-20 are invited to audition for the musical Pippin – the next production by Dorking Academy of Performing Arts senior youth theatre.

Music and lyrics are by the award-winning Stephen Schwartz (Godspell, and West End success Wicked), and the shows take place at Epsom Playhouse in July.

Hot on the heels of their recent successes, producers Jamie Cordell and Gail Lowe are staging this lesser-known musical, which imagines the life of Pippin the Hunchback, the son of Charlemagne.

EVENTS: Auditions, Epsom Playhouse

Paul Fleckney

Although written in the 70s, its themes of teenage rebellion, war and lust are timeless.

The first auditions will start at 6.45pm on January 28 at Epsom Playhouse, with further auditions held on February 11. Contact Jamie Cordell at jamie@dapa.org.uk or ring 01306 881488.

Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984

The A217 GLA Roads (Belmont Rise and St. Dunstan's Hill, London Borough of Sutton) (Temporary Prohibition of Traffic and Suspension of Parking) Order 2008

1. Transport for London hereby gives notice that it intends to make the above named Traffic Order under section 14(1) of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 for the purpose specified in paragraph 2. The effect of the Order is summarised in paragraph 3.
2. The purpose of the Order is to enable works to take place on the A217 Belmont Rise and St. Dunstan's Hill in the London Borough of Sutton.
3. The effect of the Order will be to prohibit any vehicle from:-
   a) entering or proceeding in a southbound direction on the A217 Belmont Rise from its junction with the A232 High Street/Cheam Road, Cheam and its junction with Salisbury Avenue;
   b) entering or proceeding in a northbound direction on the A217 St. Dunstan's Hill from its junction with the A232 High Street/ Cheam Road, Cheam to a point opposite the common boundary of Nos. 142 and 144 St. Dunstan's Hill;
   c) exiting Summerville Gardens (west arm) at its junction with the A232 Cheam Road;
   d) entering or exiting Quarry Park Road at its junction with the A232 Cheam Road; or
   e) stopping or parking in the A217 Belmont Rise/St. Dunstan's Hill, between a point opposite the common boundary of Nos. 142 and 144 St. Dunstan's Hill and its junction with Salisbury Avenue.
4. The order will be effective at certain times from 21.00 hours on 8th February 2008 until 06.00 hours on 9th February 2008, and thereafter during the same hours on any subsequent night until 06.00 hours on 21st July 2008 or when the works have been completed whichever is the sooner. The prohibition will apply only during such times and to such extent as shall from time to time be indicated by traffic signs. It is expected that the prohibitions will be in force for 10 nights during this time.
5. The prohibitions will not apply in respect of:
   (1) any vehicle being used for the purposes of those works or for fire brigade, ambulance or police purposes; or
   (2) anything done with the permission or at the direction of a police constable in uniform or a parking attendant.
6. At such times as the prohibition is in force an alternative route will be indicated by traffic signs.

MAYOR OF LONDON

ROAD TRAFFIC REGULATION ACT 1984 THE SURREY COUNTY COUNCIL (AMIS AVENUE, WEST EWELL) (PROHIBITION OF THROUGH TRAFFIC) ORDER 2008

1. ON 23 JANUARY 2008 SURREY COUNTY COUNCIL ("THE COUNCIL") MADE the above mentioned Order under Sections 1(1) and 2(1) to (3) of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984 ("the Act") and all other enabling powers.
2. THE purpose and effect is to prohibit all vehicles from entering or proceeding in Amis Avenue at its junction with Gatley Avenue.
3. THE prohibition referred to in paragraph 2 will also not apply in respect of anything done —
   a) with the permission or at the direction of a police constable in uniform or a traffic warden;
   b) in accordance with any restriction or requirement indicated by traffic signs placed on the highway by or on behalf of the Surrey Police.
4. A copy of the made Order, which will come into operation on 28 January 2008, together with a plan showing the length of road to which the Order, relates may be inspected free of charge at the Main Reception,
Mid Surrey Area Office, Bay Tree Avenue, Kingston Road, Leatherhead on Mondays to Fridays from 9am and 6pm and at Epsom Library,
The Ebbisham Centre, 6 The Derby Square, Epsom on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 9.30am to 8pm and Saturdays from 9.30am to 5pm.
If you wish to question the validity of the Order or of any provision contained in it on the grounds that it is not within the powers conferred by the Act, or on the grounds that any requirement of the Act or of any instrument made under it has not been complied with in relation to the Order, you may, within six weeks from 23 January 2008, apply to the High Court for this purpose.

Tender for the Provision of a Day Care Service for People with Dementia

The London Borough of Sutton is progressing an ambitious programme of modernisation of its day services for older people. We are seeking to improve dementia day services through the re-provision of the Council's in-house weekday service and the re-commissioning of an independent weekend service, to become a single, modernised seven day a week service.

We wish to enter into a contract with a suitably skilled and qualified care provider for a highly specialist dementia day care service catering for approximately 15 people per day. We are interested in hearing from providers who have experience of delivering high quality, person centred and innovative services for people with dementia.

The contract will be for a period of five years and it is anticipated that the service will commence in November 2008. The closing date for receipt of tenders will be 28 March 2008.

The Transfer of Undertakings (Protection of Employment) Regulations will apply to staff who work in the existing services.

Organisations expressing an interest will be invited to attend an information meeting on Thursday 14 February and are invited to register their interest in writing or by e-mail to:

Colin Willard

Invest in a new boiler – stay warm, save money and help the environment

Replacing your boiler could be the answer to cutting your bill and helping to tackle global warming. Condensing boilers improve efficiency by recovering heat from the gases that would normally be wasted by a conventional boiler. High efficiency condensing boilers convert more than 88% of their fuel into heat.

What to think about when buying a boiler

- Combination versus heat-only
  You have a choice between a combination boiler, which provides heating and hot water on demand, or a boiler which operates the central heating but has a separate cylinder for hot water.

Combination boilers can provide a continuous flow of hot water, require less space and avoid heating water unnecessarily, but are less suitable for houses where there are simultaneous demands on the hot water, such as multiple bathrooms or showers.

Conventional heat-only systems take up more space than a combination system, but if there's a large enough cylinder, they are able to provide hot water to several sources at once and are more suitable for larger houses.

- Timer
  Allows you to have heat when you want it and minimise waste. Look for an accurate, easy to use timer with a seven-day function.

- Size
  An oversized boiler wastes energy and increases fuel bills. To make sure your boiler is correctly sized, consider the amount of radiators, bathrooms and rooms in the house or ask a CORGI registered installer.

- Where to store it
  A condensing boiler must be plumbed in to a drain and connected to a flue, so this restricts where it can be stored.

- Installation
  Always choose a CORGI registered installer.

Why should I get a more efficient boiler?

Using a high efficiency condensing boiler with heating controls could save you money on your bills and significantly cut your home's CO_2 emissions.

The savings with a new condensing boiler can be substantial. According to Which? magazine, someone living in a detached home could save over £190 per year on their bills, compared to an old gas heavyweight boiler, whilst significantly reducing their carbon footprint.

If you want to find out more about replacing your boiler, contact Sutton and East Surrey Water Services for advice on the best boiler for you and a free no obligation quote. Call 020 8722 7220 or visit www.h2oservices.com today.

Our price promise: We guarantee to beat British Gas on price, or we'll give you a free carbon monoxide detector

Low cost, high quality boiler installation on your doorstep

Not only do we have CORGI registered experts on hand for the best advice, information and boiler installation in your area, but our prices are really competitive too.

Don't believe us? Call us in for a free, no obligation quote and if we're not cheaper than British Gas, we'll give you a FREE carbon monoxide detector.

According to the Energy Saving Trust, a new boiler could save you up to £200 a year on your fuel bills! Call us today to find out how to start saving.

Are you looking for a new challenge for 2008?

Support Workers

Full-time/part-time
Sutton

Walsingham is a registered charity supporting people with learning disabilities to have full and active lives.

Experience is not essential but valuing people equally, being enthusiastic about trying new things and making sure people we support are included in their communities is. We offer a comprehensive salary and excellent benefits.

If this interests you, we are holding open days on:

Tuesday 29th January 2008 at Holiday Inn, Sutton, Surrey SM1 2RF.

You can meet people using our services and the staff that support them, find out more about Walsingham and fill in an application form. You can even have an interview on the day. Just bring along your passport, birth certificate, employment history details and driving licence if you have one.

The closing date for applications is 12 February 2008.

Supporta

CARE WORKERS REQUIRED

If you are fit and active you could be trained to assist people who are elderly or with physical disabilities to remain independent and in their own homes.

Homecare is a worthwhile career with flexible hours to suit most people, including parents, students and fit and active retired people.

Supporta can offer morning, lunch and evening rounds of care work in most areas of London Borough of Sutton. Care workers are on a zero hour contract, you get paid for what work you do. You can expect a good rate of pay, including 4 weeks paid holiday a year, you may just want part time or weekend work. Whatever your requirements Supporta will do their best to work around you.

Part time hours are negotiable and some shared working at weekends and evenings will be required.

All training will be provided and will be linked to NVQ level 2. We will be holding open evenings at 83 Stafford Road Wallington SM6 9AP, on the following dates; Wed 16th January, Wed 30th January and Wed 13th February from 5pm until 8pm.

INSURANCE VACANCIES

Based in the Croydon area, we are one of the South-East's leading Independent Insurance Brokers. Following an expansion programme including acquisitions, we are looking to recruit candidates for the following positions:

INSURANCE COMMERCIAL ACCOUNT HANDLERS / PROPERTY ACCOUNT HANDLERS
Salaries will range up to £25,000 + Benefits package

The successful applicants will have experience in the Insurance sector, gained from either a company or preferably a broking background. Ideally candidates should have a proven track record in dealing with clients and have experience in handling renewals, new business and adjustments in either the Commercial or Property sector. Good IT skills and qualifications will be necessary. You need to be hard working, self motivated and work well in a team environment.

In the strictest confidence please email your CV and covering letter including salary expectation to: employment@bkgroup.co.uk or post your details to: HR Dept., 1 Pampisford Road, Purley, Surrey, CR8 2NG

What Car to Buy?
See the latest motoring reviews at www.yourlocalguardian.co.uk/cars

Fiat throws a curveball

You've got to admire the styling and oomph of the Grande Punto, writes Andy

I'll admit something here. I'm not a typical Fiat customer. I went through a phase of buying one Italian car after the other and then I got to the age of 20, started buying German and Japanese vehicles and never really looked back.

It would take something special to tempt me to buy from the Fiat stable. Recently, however, I can feel the resistance weakening. First Alfa Romeo launches a series of models that are jaw-droppingly pretty and then Fiat followed suit with the Grande Punto, a model which redefines how a supermini should look.

Styling is all well and good, but without the engineering to go with it, customers tend to feel short-changed when the aesthetic novelty has worn off. Fortunately, Fiat has its bases covered and in the 1.3-litre Multijet engine fitted to the Grande Punto, it has one of the most advanced small diesels anywhere.

No manufacturer can hope to rack up respectable sales for their supermini without a decent diesel powerplant and Fiat has four to rely on. The 1.9-litre Multijet is available in 130bhp Sport guise but the engine we look at here, the 1.3-litre Multijet unit, is offered in two distinct trim variations. Entry level customers get the 1.3 Multijet Active that's also available with the AirCon pack, while those who hanker after a little more prestige can opt for the 1.3 Multijet Dynamic.

So the sprint to 60mph of 13.2 seconds isn't going to detach your retinas, but there's plenty of torque on tap in the mid range. An extra-urban fuel economy figure of 70.6mpg may read like a misprint but Fiat stands by it, quoting a combined figure of 60.1mpg and an urban figure of 47.9mpg.

The Grande Punto is a seductive little thing and will, for most buyers, make most sense when fitted with a 1.3-litre Multijet engine. It really doesn't need to be as good as it is, the smart styling giving it an almost unfair advantage.

If you're not the sort who buys Italian cars, now may well be the time to ask yourself why not.

There's no easier way to find your perfect new car

Just log onto www.yourlocalguardian.co.uk/cars and we'll make buying a new or used vehicle so much easier. Plus we'll give you plenty of advice along the way.

Selling a car

Thinking of selling your car? Our website is a powerful tool to get your message out to potential buyers. We'll promote your car online and give you the option of including it in our newspapers which cover the south west London area. You choose the package according to your budget.

Buying a car

Looking to buy a car, van, truck, motorbike, caravan, or even a boat? Look no further than www.yourlocalguardian.co.uk/cars and its associated papers. We have a huge number of local vehicles for sale – plus information on new and used car dealers in your area and further afield.

New car road tests

Thinking of buying a new car? Our new car road tests will give you the information you need to make the right decision. Choose between 65 makes and numerous models. We'll also give you all the salient facts at a glance from the vehicle's price, down to whether it will fit in your garage.

Long term road tests

Want to see how your car will perform over time? We'll give you candid answers to those all-important questions of running costs, maintenance, residual value – and whether it's going to be easy to sell. We'll also give you some important facts and figures on your make and model.

Woman's/family view

Our family view will give you the gen on whether the car you are interested in would be the practical motor you are looking for you and your family. Choose from the 40 makes featured. We'll tell you what it's like behind the wheel, if it's value for money and if it's a good addition to your household.

Model guides

Looking for a second-hand motor? Our used car model guides will tell you all you need to know. Just click on the make and model you're interested in and we'll tell you the vehicle's history, what you would expect to pay, what you get for your money, what you need to look out for, and what it's like overall.

SPORTSbrief

ATHLETICS: Collingwood veteran Rob Wilson travelled to Ghent last weekend to take part in the Louis Persoons Marathon, held in parkland on the outskirts of the city. The course was seven laps of the park, featuring beautiful scenery and a small incline on each lap. Wilson completed the event in just over four hours 51 minutes.

● Wilson has booked a coach to take runners from Wallington to the start of the London Marathon on Sunday, April 13. It will leave the old town hall and SCOLA centre in Woodcote Road at 7.15am. Prices are £8 per person. Call Rob on 020 8686 8649.

Weekend athletics round-up: yourlocalguardian.co.uk

WATER POLO: Sutton & Cheam U16 crashed 6-1 to a Worthing side containing several GB internationals in their opening Winter League fixture last season. But they rallied well, particularly through the efforts of GB junior William Jackson, in a hard-earned 5-2 victory over West London Penguins. Sutton then thumped Sevenoaks 5-1 to move up to second place in the league with three games played.

Interview with Sutton & Cheam's England international Matt Holland: yourlocalguardian.co.uk

DARTS: Epsom & District Darts League are looking for additional teams to take part in their Summer League, which starts in May. For details visit epsom-darts.co.uk

Winter League results: Division One: Fed B 0 Cheam 14, Phoenix 8 Epsom Common B 6, Comrades 5 Fed C 9, West Ewell A 8 West Ewell B 6. Division Two: Kingswood 8 West Ewell C 6, Mavericks 10 WPBL C 4, Epsom Common A 10 Chessington 4, WPBL A 7 British Royals 7.

FOOTBALL: AFC Walcountians Sharks U10 were held to a 0-0 at Bedfont Colts last weekend. Sharks owed their clean sheet to some fabulous goalkeeping from Josh Grinter and were pleased to emerge with a draw.

Your sport: yourlocalguardian.co.uk

HOCKEY: Epsom II put up a good fight at home to South League leaders Havant going down 3-1. Richard Skinner got Epsom's goals.

Other results: Epsom III 2 UCL II 1, Epsom IV 2 Sunbury III 2, Epsom V 4 Merton Board 3, Oxted 3 Epsom Vets 3.

FOOTBALL: Woodmansterne Hyde U10 girls were caught by a sucker-punch when Hearts grabbed a late winner on Saturday. Before that, most of the chances had fallen to Woods with the impressive Amy Williams going close several times. Player of the match was Rachel Barham, who was outstanding at the back.

ATHLETICS: Sutton Runners' Chris Coles finished an impressive third in Saturday's Wimbledon Common 5km time trial, clocking 18 minutes 37 seconds.

FOOTBALL: The winners of the Sutton United Lucky Striker draw for January were:
£100 Brian Jessup, £70 Mike Dowling, £60 Vanessa Masters.

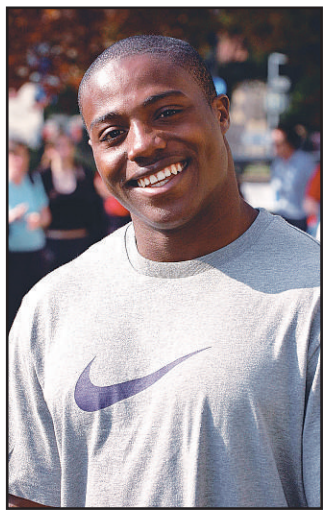
Harry fumes at slow start



Good progress: Sprinter Harry Aikines-Aryeetey
Deadlinepix Nina Katinka-Fredriksen NK1558

by TOM POLLAK
sports@london.newsquest.co.uk

Sutton's world junior 100m champion Harry Aikines-Aryeetey was furious after a poor start blotted his return from an 11-month injury layoff in the South of England indoor championships as he finished third in a blanket finish in the senior men's 60m.

The 19-year-old, who had been the fastest in all three previous rounds, was fuming that his first competition since he won the England Athletics junior 60m indoor title last February was been ruined by an "atrocious" start.

But he looked forward to improving before next month's world trials and UK championships in Sheffield.

He had accelerated from 6.81 seconds in the first round to 6.74 in the quarter-finals and 6.72 in the semis, a time he repeated in a desperately close final in which he had to settle for third, just one-hundredth of a second behind the winner.

He said: "I ran well through the rounds.

"It is my own fault I didn't run well in the final.

"It has been a hard day's work and I am not hurting; that's the main thing."

Defeat was a rare experience for Aikines-Aryeetey.

He added: "I will have to remember this feeling. There are no two ways about it. That was absolutely horrible."

The youngster, seen as one of Britain's best medal hopes for London 2012, cannot race to race in Sheffield on Sunday week.

"I want to race tomorrow. That is the attitude a sprinter has," he said. "They always want to win and it is frustrating when you do not do well.

"At least I can walk away happy from today saying everything is all right with my back, but I am angry because I have lost."

Aikines-Aryeetey at least achieved the 6.90 qualifying time for Sheffield.

His coach Michael Khmel said: "I am happy with Harry being able to go through four rounds.

"He only started speed sessions last month so I knew it was going to be hard for him to run faster and faster through the rounds because he does not have that fitness.

"The fact that he has not liked losing here is the attitude that makes him a champion."

Success for siblings at county event

by TOM POLLAK
sports@london.newsquest.co.uk

Siblings Josh Gorecki and Emelia Gorecka, both students at Howard of Effingham School, both lifted titles in the annual Surrey schools cross country championships at Reigate on Saturday.

Josh ran away with the senior boys' title in 28 minutes 31 seconds, after finishing fifth in the intermediate boys' race in 2007.

Daniel Sellman, of Wilson's School, Sutton, was third in 28:54.

Emelia comfortably retained her junior girls' title in 14:28.

Isabel Brinsden (Rosebery, Epsom) won the intermediate girls' title by 13 seconds in 16:08.

Wallington High student Sophie Cowper took the senior girls' title in 17:40.

Joe Toomey of Epsom College was runner-up in the intermediate boys' race in 23:18, while Glyn Technology, Ewell's Stefan Richards was third in 23:35.

Sutton's Jordan Maurice and Ed Saywell were fourth and sixth in the junior boys' race in 15:57 and 16:19.

Phelan retains Banstead crown

Banstead Woods time trial director Chris Phelan won the 5km race for a second consecutive week, heading home a record field of 133 runners on Saturday morning.

South London Harriers' Phelan, an over-45 veteran, clocked 17 minutes 35 seconds to finish six seconds ahead of unattached runner Michael Marzetti.

Joseph Chang of 26.2RRC, who volunteered on Saturday by putting out the signs as he warmed up, was third in 18:50.

Golden run: Banstead Woods time trial director Chris Phelan, right, on his way to a second successive win over the 5km course on Saturday Dave Sinclair

Wimbledon Windmilers' Bernie O'Donovan (21:48) won the women's race, finishing just four seconds ahead of another over-40 veteran, Dulwich Runners' Ange Norris.

Last week's winner Ceara Joyce finished third (22:23).

Two veteran men put in good performances. South London Harrier and Purley postman John Quaintance recorded an age grading of 81.89 per cent in spite of it being his first race since returning from injury.

Richard Emsley is a top race walker and walked the course in 26:53, which equates to an 82 per cent age grading for a race walking event.

● Phelan and volunteer coordinator Kaye Benjamin presented Jenny Booth with a bouquet of flowers as a thank you for acting as a volunteer for the past 11 weeks.

Lunacy will deny record

by RAY ROBSON
sports@london.newsquest.co.uk

As reported in last week's local Guardian, Banstead's Robert Townsend recently broke the British record for perch, landing a 6lb 2oz beauty.

But now comes news the Record Fish Committee are going to throw out his claim because the Thames Ditton Marina management say he cast into the mouth of the marina where you are not allowed to fish. Sheer lunacy!

Thames Ditton Marina manager Ian Lord wrote in the Angling Times: "We have had a long running problem with anglers who think they can 'guest' on our water."

As I understand it, Townsend was fishing from a boat on the Thames – not from any land owned by the marina – so what was he doing wrong?

Lord went on to say that he would be writing to the Record Fish Committee to complain and they will no doubt throw out Townsend's claim.

A complete miscarriage of justice.

When asked about the problem, Townsend said: "We were on the river casting to the mouth of the marina.

"There weren't any signs saying 'no fishing' where we were so, as far as I'm concerned, we were doing nothing wrong."

I totally agree.

The fish was caught on legal rod and line, therefore it is the record.

If the Record Fish Committee do not allow Townsend's catch to stand, then they should do the decent thing and resign and let some people take over who have a semblance of common sense and the courage of their convictions.

Munford sets sights high

by SIMON FITZJOHN
sfitzjohn@london.newsquest.co.uk

Sutton & Epsom starlet Steve Munford has revealed the club are expecting to win all their remaining fixtures this season.

The 19-year-old scrum-half has played a pivotal role as Sutton have stormed to six straight wins to march up the London Division One table into fifth place.

And Munford insisted his side, who defeated Civil Service 30-25 on Saturday, would be one to watch not just this season, but next as well.

Munford said: "We are targeting winning all our games for the rest of the season.

"We left things a bit late this year in terms of going up, but we think we can get promotion next year."

Munford has enjoyed a meteoric rise through the ranks at Rugby Lane, and admitted he was still pinching himself.

He said: "It has gone really, really well and I don't think I could have asked for much more from this season.

"The club gave me a chance and I grabbed it. I am loving my rugby here at the moment."

Munford's place looked in jeopardy when he injured his back in training, forcing him to sit out a number of games pre-Christmas, but he has forced his way back into the side with several barnstorming displays.

He said the had the established stars to thank for boosting his confidence.

Munford added: "The rest of the team have been brilliant.

"The more senior players have really helped me bed in and it has made things much easier for me."

Now, the youngster hopes others will follow his lead and join him in making an impact at Sutton.

He added: "If I am an inspiration to any young players, then great.

"We are not a rich club and for us to develop our own talent is vital for the future."

One of Munford's first steps in his rugby career was a starring role at the National Schools Rugby Tournament.

Epsom College will again host this years' finals on March 2, with England international Andy Farrell on hand to present the prizes.

Stevens back on Tanners goal trail

Leatherhead favourite Dave Stevens has vowed to repay the club's fans after hitting the goal trail on Saturday.

Stevens received a hero's welcome in his first start back at the club since returning from a turbulent spell at Met Police.

And the striker, who struck during the crucial 3-2 win at Molesey, admitted it was great to be back.

He said: "The reception I got from the Leatherhead fans was special.

"It made me feel like I was back home.

by SIMON FITZJOHN
sfitzjohn@london.newsquest.co.uk

"To get that sort of a welcome as a player gives you a real lift and I just hope I can continue scoring goals."

Stevens' strike came as the Tanners launched a stunning fightback to claim all three points at the relegation-haunted Moles.

Trailing 2-0, goals from Lynvall Duncan and Carl Gibbs added to a Stevens free-kick to steal victory.

And the Tanners talisman insisted the goal was his, despite it taking a wicked deflection on the way in.

He added: "I just tried to hit it as hard as I could.

"It was on target but it did take a bit of a deflection.

"But I'm a centre-forward and, as a striker, you claim anything."

The priceless win at Molesey has eased Leatherhead's own relegation fears, and with fellow strugglers Whitstable Town to visit on Saturday, it is a perfect opportunity for the Tanners to banish talk of the dreaded drop.

And Stevens revealed that Leatherhead have more loftier ambitions than simple survival.

He added: "Nobody is really talking about relegation, to be honest.

"There are so many new faces and it has taken time for things to settle.

"But our aim for this season is to finish as high up the table as we can and then set greater targets next year."

Lyndon eyes top 10 finish

by SIMON FITZJOHN
sfitzjohn@london.newsquest.co.uk

Epsom & Ewell manager Lyndon Buckwell has targeted a top-10 finish as his side aim to end their Combined Counties Premier Division season with a flourish.

Buckwell accepts that promotion appears a pipe dream for this season, but has demanded his side lay the groundwork for an assault next year.

But he admits it will be no easy task.

Buckwell said: "This year we are looking for a top half finish.

"When I came here, there was even talk of relegation, but now we want a place in the top 10.

"There are some very strong teams so we will have to work hard.

"This year will be all about consolidation and then having a real go next season."

The Epsom supremo's aim to get his side firing on all cylinders suffered a knock on Saturday as their game at Chertsey Town fell foul of the weather.

And Buckwell revealed his frustration at his side's inactivity.

He added: "We've had a stop-start time since the Christmas period and it has been pretty annoying.

"We haven't been able to train that much and we really could have done with a game on Saturday to get things moving."

Ash United visit Epsom on Saturday and Buckwell is hoping his side can complete a league double, having triumphed 3-1 at Ash earlier in the season.

Buckwell added: "We'll be confident but they are a hard team to beat.

"They are a big team with a lot of strong players and we will have to be at our best."

Epsom cruise

Epsom Ladies romped to a 4-2 success at struggling Reading in South Premier Hockey League Division One on Saturday.

Goals from Sammie Archer (two), Stacey Bone and Georgina Sydenham clinched victory for Epsom, who moved clear in second place.

They are at home to Harrow on Saturday.

Dundas is key for United

by STUART AMOS
samos@london.newsquest.co.uk

High-flyer: Striker Craig Dundas Deadlinepix Niall O'Mara NO2927

Sutton United boss Ernie Howe fears any injury to in-form striker Craig Dundas could scupper any chance his side has of Blue Square South survival.

Dundas bagged a brace in Saturday's 4-2 defeat at Fisher Athletic – which saw United slip back to the foot of the table – taking his tally to nine goals in 11 games.

Eastleigh's 23-year-old former Crystal Palace defender Karim El Salahi sealed a loan switch to United yesterday as Howe seeks to plug a defence that has leaked eight goals in the past two games.

But it is the so-far fruitless attempts to bring in more firepower that have given Howe his biggest headache.

"Craig has had a tremendous start, but everything he is getting he is half-creating himself. We need to get him more support," said Howe.

"We are very aware of the position we might be in if he gets injured. We need someone to take on the mantle and get more for us.

"I have been in for players and knocked back twice this week, which is frustrating but all I can do is keep trying.

"I think the fans appreciate it is difficult at this stage of the season."

Sutton capitulated in the second-half at Fisher despite Dundas giving them a first-minute lead and then levelling it up at 2-2.

Howe is believed to be lining up a swoop on AFC Wimbledon's £2,000-rated winger Robin Shroot, while hunting more experience for his squad.

"I think playing at this level has come a bit early for some of the younger players," he said.

"We have got to change things. I thought we had stopped leaking goals, but it seems to have started again because we are not defending well enough as a group."

Sutton needed extra-time to beat Ryman Division One South side Met Police in the Surrey Senior Cup on Tuesday.

Rob Hughes' penalty and two strikes from Harry Ottaway finally saw them through to the fourth round, in which they will visit Woking.

United host Newport County on Saturday, with Paul Honey set to return from suspension.

Bird delight as Robins bounce back in style

by SIMON FITZJOHN
sfitzjohn@london.newsquest.co.uk

Carshalton Athletic boss Hayden Bird revealed his delight after the Robins swept aside Folkestone Invicta 3-0 on Monday night to banish the memories of Saturday's crash at Margate.

Athletic slumped to a 4-2 defeat at the weekend but goals from Tony Quinton, Phil Ruggles and Barry Stevens on their return to Kent quickly got their season back on track.

And the win lifted the Robins to 10th in the Ryman Premier Division – their highest league position for two seasons.

Bird said: "It might sound strange but, although it was a bad result against Margate, it was not a bad performance.

"Of course, it knocked the players back a bit. So for us to go to Folkestone and win on a Monday night on a awkward pitch is a credit to the players.

"It was a great performance and showed a lot of character."

The win at Folkestone saw Carshalton continue their recent goal spree, having hit eight goals in their past three games, including Rob Ursell and Quinton's efforts in vain at Margate.

And Bird admitted it was the performance in front of goal that has boosted the upturn in fortunes.

He added: "Some of our football is tremendous.

"We are creating so many chances and it is no lie to say we could have got another five against Folkestone.

"We still need to improve our finishing but we are creating so many opportunities, that will come."

The Robins have a great chance to gauge their progress on Saturday when league leaders Chelmsford City visit.

Proud: Hayden Bird
Deadlinepix Staph SP17524

And it is a clash the Carshalton boss is relishing.

Bird added: "When I came here we were in the bottom two but we have really picked things up.

"I'm really excited about Saturday's game – if we want to be a successful club then Chelmsford are whom we have to aspire to.

"I think it will be a great game between the two best footballing sides in the division."

Manager out to plug gaps

Banstead Athletic's new boss Dave Leworthy said his side had a lot of work to do after overseeing his second defeat at Wembley last Saturday, writes Michael McDonnell.

Kevin Terry scored the only goal for Banstead 10 minutes from time, mere consolation as Wembley held on for a 2-1 win.

The home side had the better of the first half and went into half-time 1-0 up.

They scythed through Banstead's defence to make it 2-0 after the break and the visitors' woes were compounded when Richard Price was sent off for alleged foul and abusive language aimed at the linesman.

Terry converted from Jahmahl King's flick-on and Banstead put the Wembley defence under heavy pressure for the last 10 minutes but could not find an equaliser.

Epsom hold pace-setters

Epsom men's hockey team drew 4-4 at top-of-the-table Banbury in a thrilling match on Saturday.

They went behind early in the game but levelled through Michael Atkinson before taking the lead three times, courtesy of goals from Gary Scott (two) and James Harris, Scott's second coming with only minutes on the clock.

But at the death, Banbury forced a disputed penalty corner and their slick routine led to a final equaliser and a share of the spoils.

On Sunday, Epsom lost 3-2 at home to Bank of England in the quarter-finals of the Surrey Cup.

Warnham's warning shot

by STUART AMOS

samos@london.newsquest.co.uk

Dream team: Steve Warnham makes a break against Civil Service. He puts Sutton & Epsom's good form down to Kiwi Brian Milne, inset John Ashton/Deadlinepix Amy WestonSP18871

Sutton & Epsom centre Steve Warnham has turned up the heat on the rest of London Division One by claiming his side are one of the best in the league.

The 28-year-old, a barman at Banstead's Woolpack pub, is enjoying his best season at a club he has represented since he was five years old, alongside leading try scorer Brian Milne.

Sutton are fifth in the table behind unbeaten leaders Richmond and eyeing a top-four finish as a foundation for a promotion bid to the National League next season.

Martin Knights' men made a slow start to their campaign, losing their opening three games, but they have won nine of their past 11, including Saturday's 30-25 triumph over Civil Service.

And Warnham, who was part of the side that clinched the Division Two South title last year, believes that hot streak means they fear no one.

"The start to the season was a shock to the system for us and I think gave everyone a kick up the bum.

"Everyone decided they did not want to keep getting beaten and has put in that extra bit of training.

"Fourth is realistic and, if a few results go our way, it would be awesome to finish in the top three.

"We believe we can beat any side in the league.

"Apart from the top two sides, I don't think there is anyone in this league we can't beat in our current form and, even against Worthing, I think we would fancy our chances."

Warnham has been at Rugby Lane for more than 20 years and even combined playing for the first team with his university studies.

He is one of a number of front-line players, including skipper James Clarke, to have grown up at the club and experienced relegation in 2005.

He admits the experience was a low, but revealed the appointment of Knights – and the arrival of Milne – has revitalised the club.

"It is no criticism of previous coaches but Martin has added that extra bit of professionalism, which has made a big difference to us this year," he added.

"There is a great buzz about the place at the moment.

"It is not just about the first team because everyone is behind all the teams here. This is probably my best season since I have been at the club.

"Usually, I flutter between the first team and second team but I have played virtually every game.

"Brian has been awesome. He has been different class and I have learnt a huge amount from him.

"He seems to have so much more time on the ball and, if he doesn't go through gaps himself, he creates them for others.

"If we can finish in the top four it would provide a good building block for promotion next season."
